NATO Needs More Flexibility To Meet Red Menace—Dulles

B. V. to Oppose Lock Job

Council Against Raising Level of River Six Feet; To File Protest

Belle Vernon Borough Council agreed last night to "vigorously oppose" plans by the U. S. Corps of Engineers to raise the normal level of the Monongahela River by six feet.

After conferring with two Army engineers, Council drafted and approved a strongly-worded resolution objecting to the proposed river project.

The resolution will be sent immediately to Congressman Thomas E. Morgan. Council will also ask Belle Vernon residents to send similar objections to both Morgan and the U. S. Army Engineers.

The river-raising is part of a huge $57,000,000 improvement project planned over the next few years for the Monongahela River Navigation System.

The Army Engineers plan to construct new locks and dams at Maxwell and Grays Landing. Also included is an $8,000,000 improvement to Lock 4, Monessen.

Near Flood Level

The proposed new river level will come up to a point just under the Second St. wharf in Belle Vernon. That will be dangerously close to flood level and Council is fearful that there will be some seepage into the downtown area.

The new river level will also wreck much of the borough's existing sewage system. At least seven main sewers will have to be relocated.

It was estimated that the sewer installation would cost a whopping $75,000.

Two representatives of the Army engineers, Mr. Cole and Mr. Anderson, were present at last night's meeting. They explained that the sewage problem would probably be taken care of when the borough installs a disposal system as required by state law.

Another Protest

Council obviously didn't agree, particularly when informed that the river project is scheduled for completion by 1961. Small communities in the area are hoping that they will not be required to build disposal plants until after that date.

The Army engineers stated that final plans will be completed for the vast river project in the next few months. They predicted that bids will be received sometime next year.

One other district community, West Brownsville, has already lodged a protest against the river-raising.

"As far as we can determine, the purpose of the new locks is not to provide better flood control but to make the river more navigable," said Borough Secretary Joseph Ferrari. "Council feels that this expensive project will benefit a few, while harming many."

Telephone Rate Boost Suspended For Six Months

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission has suspended for six months the $2,748,000 annual increase sought by the Bell Telephone Co. in service connection and installation charges.

The PUC postponed the increase from Dec. 13 to next June 13 and ordered an investigation and public hearings to determine whether the proposed boost is justified. The vote on suspending the rate hike was 3-2 with Commissioners John B. Conly, Pittsburgh, and Henry Houck, Shenandoah favoring an immediate boost.

Bell wants to establish a uniform $7 charge for new residence telephone connections and a $10 fee for hooking up business phones. Currently the utility charges $4.25 for residence connections in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and $4 elsewhere. Connection of business phones cost $8 in the state's two largest cities and $1 less in other sections of the state.

The city of Philadelphia has formally protested the proposed new charges.

JAILED IN SUBWAY STRIKE — Theodore Loos (second from right, front), president of striking Motormen's Benevolent association, a New York subway union starts for jail in custody of sheriff's deputies after rejecting last-ditch efforts aimed at preventing a strike. Another of the union going jailward is August Johnson (right). They had been under 10-day suspended jail sentences from a subway tieup of June 1956.

NYC Subway System Paralyzed by Strike

NEW YORK (UP)—New York City's strike-crippled subway system was virtually paralyzed today when six more small unions joined striking motormen in their fight against domination by the giant Transport Workers Union.

The Transit Authority admitted defeat in its efforts to maintain at least minimum service and appealed to New Yorkers to stay out of the subways except on "essential business."

The strike of about 2,600 members of the Motormen's Benevolent Association at 5 a.m. Monday threw rain-swept New York City into one of the worst transport jams in history. Streets, highways and rail lines were clogged from the center of Manhattan for miles into the suburbs. Business was disrupted by tardy or non-arriving workers; stores said they could never recover Christmas sale losses which were guessed in the millions. Even air travel suffered—passenger were delayed up to an hour in reaching airports.

Protest Move

As of 6 a.m. today, police reported six subway lines were entirely out of operation; seven were running trains once an hour; 14 were on 30-minute schedules and 13 lines of the IRT system were running at almost normal.

The MBA called the strike to protest a transit authority ruling that subway workers must select a single bargaining agent in an election scheduled for next Monday. They and a number of other small craft unions had sought to escape domination of the giant Transport Workers Union through craftwide elections offering a choice between the TWU and the splinter groups.

The motormen were joined this morning by groups of other crafts—conductors, shop workers, electricians, towermen and building and allied trades subway workers.

$95,637 Holdup at Kentucky Bank

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Police today sought two bandits who held up a branch bank of the Citizens Fidelity Bank and Trust Co. of $95,637 Monday in the biggest bank holdup in Louisville history.

Police said the pair, who herded six customers and 13 employes into a line while they grabbed up the money in the cash drawers and night depository bags, made off in a stolen car, later found abandoned.

Police theorized a third man picked up the bandits in a late model, cream - colored station wagon.

Holds Up Tree for One Hour with Hands

DULUTH, Minn. (UP)—A householder rose to the occasion Monday afternoon when a 30-foot tree threatened to crush his home.

The man, about 55 and of medium size, lost sight of where he was chopping and the tree, about four feet in circumference, began toppling on his house.

The modern day Paul Bunyan, who refused to allow use of his name, stepped into the breach and held the tree up at arm's length for about an hour, getting angrier — and weaker — by the minute.

First of all, he called to his wife for more than 10 minutes before she heard him. She rushed outside and saw her husband planted beneath the tree and supporting it above his head.

"What shall I do?" she cried.

"Call my brother," the desperate woodsman shouted.

She was unable to find the brother and returned.

"What shall I do?" she asked again.

"Rouse the neighbors," her spouse called.

She ran to neighboring homes, but no one was in. However, she found two small boys passing by on the street and enlisted their aid. They were too small to help, and were dismissed.

"What shall I do now?" she wailed.

"Call a service station," the rapidly weakening husband muttered between clenched teeth.

Off went the wife again on a tour of service stations, but they were too busy to come. She rushed home and asked once more what she should do.

"Call the fire department," the husband whispered.

Firemen came to the rescue, freed the man and saved his house. The husband was last seen stumbling into his home, mumbling dark comments to no one in particular.

Peoples Gas Co. Rate Increase Is Suspended

HARRISBURG (UP)—A $672,000 annual rate increase sought by the Peoples Natural Gas Co., of Pittsburgh, filed to go into effect today, has been suspended for six months until next June 10.

The Public Utility Commission delayed the proposal and said it would investigate its justification at current hearings on the city of Pittsburgh's complaint against a $1,242,000 boost made by the company last September. A public hearing is scheduled Dec. 18 in the State Office Building, Pittsburgh.

The firm said it was forced to ask for the latest rate hike to offset the higher cost of wholesale gas bought from the Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. Peoples said it now pays the gas line $734,000 more annually. The September rate boost was designed to cover increased gas costs from two other wholesale suppliers.

The company furnishes service to 247,764 consumers in Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Blair, Butler, Cambria Clarion Fayette, Greene Indiana Lawrence, Washington and Westmoreland counties.

Five Miners Killed in Pit

GLEN ROGERS, W. Va. (UP)—Five miners were killed Monday night in a cave-in at a Raleigh-Wyoming Coal Company mine near this southern West Virginia community.

Company officials said the cave-in was caused by what is known as a 'mountain bump"—pressure from a mountain forcing its weight on a mine and crushing roof supports.

The dead were identified as George Durham and Waymon Acord, both of Bolt, W. Va. Noel Trump and John Lomack both of Glen Rogers, and John Coleman of Beckley, W. Va.

Searchers recovered three bodies and efforts were underway to recover the other two.

Official: Dent vs Morrison

HARRISBURG (UP)—Veteran Democratic State Sen. John H. Dent and Pittsburgh newscaster Herbert O. Morrison, Scottdale, will be the opponents in a special election Jan. 21 to fill the Westmoreland County congressional seat of the late Cong. Augustine B. Kelley.

Dent was unanimously endorsed by the Democratic State Executive Committee in a brief meeting here Monday. County Democrats had earlier selected the Senate minority leader without opposition.

Morrison, who was twice defeated by Kelley in regular elections, was slated by the Westmoreland County Republicans Friday night.

Kelley, a Democratic congressman from Greensburg for 17 years from the state's 21st District, died last month in a Bethesda, Md., hospital. His successor will serve until Jan. 3, 1959, when all current Congress terms expire.

Mayor Hugo Parente of Monessen nominated Dent before the 36-member state committee and the formality of endorsement followed. Dent, of Jeannette, said that, if elected, he would resign from the state Senate as soon as the election results were certified.

Seen Off State Ticket

Dent's election in the heavily Democratic county would remove a possible roadblock for a primary ticket headed by Gov. George M. Leader for the U. S. Senate and Mayor Richardson Dilworth, of Philadelphia, for the gubernatorial spot.

The veteran lawmaker had been mentioned as a possible candidate for the Senate on a primary slate with Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman for the governorship. Even if Dent loses, it would be unlikely that he would then be considered for a berth on a statewide election ticket.

Dent is the last of a long line of colorful orators in the state Senate. A speaker with a booming voice who could linger for hours on any topic without referring to notes, Dent has been Democratic floor leader since 1943 and a senator since 1936.

Morrison gained national recognition for his radio discription of the ill-fated German dirigible Hindenburg when it exploded and burned while mooring at Lakehurst Naval Air Station, N.J. years ago.

Last month Morrison scored a notable beat on the airwaves when he talked by commercial telephone and Air Force radio with Gen. Curtis Le May as the Air Force chief of staff winged over South America on a record-setting trip.

Dent to Launch His Campaign Tomorrow Night

State Sen. John H. Dent will officially launch his campaign for Congressman from the 21st District, Westmoreland County, tomorrow night at the annual Christmas party of the County's Young Democrats, he announced today.

Dent was officially slated to be the Democratic candidate at a meeting of the state Democratic Committee yesterday in Harrisburg.

Andrew Kritsky, Monessen, president of the Young Democrats, said more than 1,000 persons are expected at the annual affair to be held at 8 p. m. at the Coal A. C., Greensburg.

Dent's Republican opponent to fill the vacancy created by the death of Augustine B. Kelley is H. O. Morrison, Scottdale. The two will battle in a special election on Jan. 21.

Doctors Check on Ike Today for NATO Trip

WASHINGTON (UP) — Doctors today will pass on the fitness of a "back in the saddle" President Eisenhower to travel to Paris for next week's NATO "summit" conference.

Only a firm veto by the physicians is expected to keep the President from personally trying to rally the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations to meet Russia's space age challenge.

In view of his apparently rapid recovery from a mild stroke Nov. 25, a negative verdict would come as a surprise.

Most or nearly all of the physicians who examined him for the slight stroke will test the President thoroughly starting at 2:30 p.m. e.s.t. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he probably would announce later in the afternoon if the President will go to the Dec. 16-18 meeting in Paris.

Nixon Second Choice

Vice President Richard M. Nixon will head the U.S. delegation if Eisenhower is not allowed to attend.

The President prepared for his examination by spending four restful days at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm. He returned to Washington Monday.

In a speech at St. Louis, Mo., Monday night, Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams assured a Republican audience that Eisenhower "is back in the saddle. His grip on the reins is tight and sure."

Adams said the President was "almost adamant" about attending a state dinner for the King of Morocco a few hours after he was stricken Nov. 25. The next day, he said, Eisenhower made a "vigorous argument" about going to his office and "talked seriously" of holding a news conference.

These activities were ruled out by his doctors.

Earlier Opinions Differed

When the nature of the President's illness first became known, medical men thought he would have to spend several weeks of "substantially decreased activity."

Stricken on Monday, he stayed in his White House living quarters until Thursday — Thanksgiving Day — when he attended church. The next day he drove to Gettysburg.

Last week, the President presided over a cabinet meeting; took part in a bipartisan congressional meeting and a Republican leaders conference; conferred with various officials and took a few practice golf shots on the White House lawn.

HARRISBURG (UP)—Pennsylvania's official Christmas tree was brought to the state capitol today from western Perry County.

The 80-foot hemlock tree, felled at Blain, will be set up on the Capitol plaza. The hemlock is the state tree.

A second hemlock will be cut later this week and taken to Harrisburg for the rotunda of the Capitol. Mrs. George M. Leader, wife of the governor, will light the two trees at noon Dec. 17 to open a program of carol singing.

Judge to Rule Soon on Trial In Gulf Theft

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Federal Judge Rabe F. Marsh is expected to rule soon on a request he set an early trial date for three men charged with the theft of Gulf Oil Corp. maps valued by the company at 34 million dollars.

New York attorneys Archibald Palmer and Bernard Tompkins requested the early trials Monday for Col. Odie Seagraves, 73, Houston, Tex., oil wildcatter, and two New York brothers, Emanuel Lester and Edward Lieberman.

Palmer, representing Seagraves, said his client wanted to go to trial soon so he could "meet his Maker knowing he's exonerated."

Judge Marsh also heard arguments on motions to suppress, to turn over statements of all witnesses, to give the defense photostatic copies of the stolen maps and for a "bill of particulars."

Asst. U.S. Atty. Hubert I. Teitelbaum told the court if defense counsel really wanted an early trial they would not have filed four new motions. He said the motions amounted to "trial by legal technicalities."

The three men were arrested Dec. 18, 1956, by FBI agents who recovered some of the missing Gulf maps in a building occupied by Lieberman and his brother, operators of a carpet business in New York.

Character of Future War Is Changing, Secretary Points Out

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the North Atlantic Alliance must be made more flexible to meet Soviet military and economic challenges in the missile age.

Dulles also told a news conference that the 15-nation alliance is carefully restudying the whole question of whether local wars can be prevented from growing into global nuclear conflicts.

On the eve of the NATO summit meeting in Paris, Dulles said the character of future war is changing. For example, he said, the likelihood that missiles will be used more and more is becoming a factor in the consideration of what a general war would mean to the world.

Dulles said the Soviet Union is making moves to increase its military potential and to use subversive economic warfare throughout the world.

Must Be Prepared

Dulles said the changing character of the Soviet challenge means NATO must be made more flexible. The Allies, he said, must be prepared more adequately to meet this challenge.

Dulles said he has no doubt the summit meeting in Paris, opening next Monday, will renew the spirit of NATO to defend Europe against attack.

He hinted several times he expects President Eisenhower to go to Paris. He said the meeting will be attended by government heads.

Dulles said he himself will leave Washington for Paris Thursday. He will do some "harmony" work with other Allied delegations before the NATO meeting.

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy already is in Europe. He conferred for three days with British leaders, and will talk with West German Defense Minister Franz-Josef Strauss on Thursday.

Review Missile Plans

A communique issued in London said McElroy and British Defense Minister Duncan Sandys had reviewed plans for stationing U.S. intermediate range ballistic missiles in Britain. The communique said "it is hoped to finalize the agreement very shortly."

McElroy was accused by West German officials of snubbing Strauss by not scheduling a talk with him after receiving an invitation. McElroy rectified this, however, and arranged to meet his West German counterpart on Thursday.

Diplomatic officials have said low morale among the West European Allies is jeopardizing the NATO summit meeting's chances of success. A big question was whether the U.S. delegation can make suggestions that will rebuild European morale.

Door Frames and Windows Stolen

An undetermined number of door frames and windows were taken from a storage place in the alley between Third and Fourth Sts., it was reported to police yesterday.

Louis and Charles Lowe, both of 105 Ninth St., Monessen, told police the items were taken over the weekend.

A neighbor in the vicinity, Mrs. Cecil Boyd, informed police that she saw a man drive up to the storage place, take the frames and windows and then drive away.

Claims Russia Building Super TV Satellite

WASHINGTON (UP)— Atomic expert Rep. James T. Patterson (R-Conn.) said today Russia is building a super television satellite capable of controlling the world's communications — and even jamming out the vital U.S. early warning radar defense system.

Patterson said "most reliable and authoritative sources" also told him the Soviets are making Sputniks which may be "utilized as bomb-carry vehicles."

The TV Sputnik, Patterson said, is being designed to jam not only radar and radio and television signals but also broadcast "its own propaganda on any TV channel anywhere in the world."

Patterson, a member of the House Armed Service and the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committees, said the "big brother" Sputnik would weigh one ton and be shot into an orbit 22,000 miles above the earth, making a revolution every 24 hours.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Middletown, Conn., American Legion, Patterson called for a "super-accelerated crash program in all research and weaponry."

Failure of the Budget Bureau to release all appropriate funds for nuclear-powered rockets was hit by Chairman Rep. Carl T. Durham (D-N.C.) of the Atomic Energy Committee in a letter to President Eisenhower.

Third Attempt to Launch Satellite May Come Soon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—It appeared likely today that a third attempt will be made this week to successfully launch the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM), the "big bird" in this country's missile arsenal.

There also were reports that an Army missile, either an intermediate range Jupiter or a Redstone, would be fired tonight.

This gave rise to speculation that the Army might be ready to test fire its satellite-bearing Jupiter C. missile in the wake of failure of the Navy Vanguard satellite carrier last Friday.

Although a spokesman for the Army ballistic missile agency at Huntsville, Ala., said no fully assembled Jupiter C's were at the cape, the Redstone believed to be sitting in one of two Army service towers here is the fundamental unit of the Jupiter C.

The Air Force kicked off what almost certainly will be another busy week at this Air Force test center Monday by triggering a ground-to-air BoMarc, a small but swift missile which sped away leaving only a thin trail of smoke.

Monday the Navy issued a statement listing the reason for the Vanguard misfiring as "a mechanical failure in the propulsion system."

Watreas Cleared in Murder

Facing Other Charges

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP)—Coal miner Joseph Watreas, cleared of a murder charge because of lack of evidence, today faced prosecution on worthless check charges and perhaps bigamy.

Testimony at his murder trial revealed that Watreas, already married and the father of three children, married Audrey Mae Clark in Oakland, Md., last July 29. That was the day Alvie Partridge, 81-year-old Masontown grocer, was found strangled in his store. Watreas was charged with the slaying.

Fayette County President Judge W. Russell Carr, acceding to a motion by the defense Monday, dismissed the murder case against the 29-year-old Watreas for lack of evidence.

The state's case was based on footprints found at the scene and mining wire used to strangle Partridge.

'Much Too Weak'

"I think it is clear that the combined circumstances put in evidence by the prosecution to identify the defendant as the killer are, as a matter of law, much too weak and inconclusive to warrant his conviction," the judge said.

Fayette County Dist. Atty. Joseph E. Kovach said he may appeal Judge Carr's ruling.

Asked if he planned to press bigamy charges against Watreas, Kovach said such action was "with the province of the state of Maryland."

Masontown Justice of the Peace Herbert Steiment has issued a warrant for Watreas' arrest on a charge of passing a $125 worthless check at the Masontown Clover Farm grocery two days before the slaying.

Defense attorney Anthony Cavalcante challenged the state's evidence supplied by FBI Agent Curtis Thompson, a footprint expert, at the murder trial. Thompson said an imprint of a tennis shoe found in Partridge's store compared with a shoe owned by Watreas.

Judge Concurs

Cavalcante contended there was no proof of how long the print may have been on the floor.

Judge Carr concurred with Cavalcante on this question.

"The evidence fails to show that the footprint was not there before the crime was committed," he said.

Regarding the wire used in the strangling, Judge Carr said:

"The wire . . . was of a type that could well have been possessed by hundreds of men in the mining area."

After the Maryland marriage ceremony, Watreas and Miss Clark eloped to Miami, Fla., where they were apprehended by FBI agents.

Miss Clark testified she knew Watreas as "Joe Kelog" and was unaware he already had a wife.

Pope to Make Christmas Radio Broadcast Early

VATICAN CITY (UP) — Pope Pius XII will make his traditional Christmas broadcast to the world two days earlier than usual this year because of the "great importance" of his message, it was announced today.

The Vatican officially announced the Christmas message would go over the world's air waves Dec. 22 rather than Dec. 24 as it has in the past.

Well informed Vatican sources said the change was decided for practical reasons.

"The message will be of great importance this year," the sources said, "and Vatican officials considered it would receive more attention from the press on Dec. 23 than on Christmas day when only a few newspapers are printed."

Nobel Prizes for '57 Awarded in Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UP) — Gold medals and $40,000 cash awards were distributed today to the winners of the 1957 Nobel prizes for outstanding contributions in the sciences and literature.

In Oslo, Norway, Canada's Lester Pearson was honored similarly as winner of the Nobel Peace Prize.

Two Chinese - born physicists from New York were among the outstanding men of science and literature honored in ceremonies in Stockholm's Concert Hall. They were Profs. Tsung Dao Lee, 31, and Chen Ning Yang, 35, the second youngest ever to win Nobel prizes. They shared the award for physics.

Officials of the Swedish Nobel Foundation denied reports that special security precautions had been taken to protect Lee and Yang. At the same time, a Foreign Office spokesman suggested two diplomats assigned to escort the Chinese scientists had been mistaken for "bodyguards from the security police."

Hold Red Passports

Lee and Yang, applicants for U.S. citizenship, hold Nationalist Chinese passports. They have let it be known they would not accept any invitations from the Chinese Communist Embassy in Stockholm.

However, representatives of the Peiping regime's embassy were at the airport for Lee and Yang and attended today's presentation ceremonies.

In addition to the gold medals, diplomas and cash awards, the winners were hailed with trumpet fanfares and ovations from the audience of 2,000 headed by King Gustaf Adolf of Sweden.

Lee and Yang were rewarded for their "penetrating investigations of the so-called parity law which has led to important discoveries regarding the elementary particles."

Sir Alexander Todd, Glasgow-born professor, received the prize for chemistry. Prof. Daniel Bovet, of Italy, received the award for medicine, and Albert Camus, Algerian-born existentialist the prize for literature.

Soviet Claims No Failures in Launching Moon

LONDON (UP) —Soviet Russia claimed today it had no failures in launchings its two earth satellites.

Moscow Radio broadcast a statement in the official Communist organ Pravda quoting Soviet professor Sedov, a member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, on the "no failures" report.

Pravda carried articles by Sedov and by professors Muskhelishvili and Sergeyev on the occasion of the one-thousandth orbit around the earth of Sputnik I.

Sedov said the "launching of the Sputniks was preceded by large-scale preparatory work based on extensive research."

"As a result the USSR has had no failures in launching its earth satellites," he said. "Two attempts were made and both were successful."

Speaking of the United States difficulties, Sedov said, "this bears out once more the complexity of this task. I believe the American specialists will before long succeed in launching earth satellites. The Soviet scientists sincerely wish them success."

State to Take Long Holiday

HARRISBURG (UP) — State employes will get a long holiday at Christmas by order of Gov. George M. Leader.

The governor's office said the state workers need not report for duty on Dec. 26 and 27. This will permit them to be off Wednesday through Sunday.

"A check of past records has shown that this is the established procedure when the holiday falls on Wednesday," David V. Randall, the governor's secretary, said.

However, the Capitol will close only for New Year's Day which also falls on a Wednesday, and state workers will report for duty the other days of that week.

Six Die in Crash

INDIANOLA, Miss. (UP)— The bodies of six Negroes were discovered Monday in an automobile which had swerved off a highway into a rain-swollen ravine. A plantation owner sighted a wheel of the auto protruding from the eight-foot deep water and called officers who pulled it out and recovered the bodies.

Lias Wants Witnesses At Deportation Hearing

WASHINGTON (UP)—Lawyers for William G. (Big Bill) Lias sought today to expand a federal court deportation hearing against the 400-pound former Wheeling, W. Va., gambler and race track operator into a full-scale trial.

Attorney Jack Wasserman said he would ask District Judge Burnita S. Matthews this morning to open up the hearing to allow witnesses to support Lias. If granted, the motion might mean further delay in the proceedings to line up the witnesses.

The government wants the hearing limited to a review of the immigration and naturalization service record against Lias. This would rule out witnesses.

Lias was ordered deported in 1955 as an undesirable alien. But deportation was put off while the Internal Revenue Bureau tried to settle a two million dollar tax claim against him for the period 1942-48.

Refused Review of Case

The Supreme Court earlier this year refused to review the tax case. His Wheeling Downs Race Track and other holdings have been sold to settle up the tax account.

In 1956 the government was reported to have been paying Lias $35,000 a year to operate the track which it had taken over prior to its sale for $1,780,000.

The government is seeking deportation on grounds that Lias was born in Greece and came to this country when he was nine years old. He was not naturalized as an American citizen and remains a Greek citizen, the government contends.

Lias claims he was born a U.S. citizen in Wheeling and has a birth certificate to prove it. But the government charges the birth certificate was issued in 1946.

Two Issues Involved

Wasserman said the issues involved in the hearing were whether Lias has been proved an alien and whether he is entitled to a trial by jury to prove he is an American.

Lias, acquitted of criminal tax evasion charges, has a police record going back to 1922. He has been arrested on bootlegging and gambling charges.

There also was a possibility the case may be shifted to West Virginia. A federal district judge recently said citizenship cases should be brought up where the defendant resides.

This does not necessarily set a precedent. But raised the possibility that Judge Matthews would feel the same way and rule the case should be shifted to West Virginia.

Bakery Workers Get AFL-CIO Ultimatum

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UP) — The AFL-CIO Executive Council said today it would expel the Bakery Workers Union this week unless it complies with AFL-CIO clean-up orders.

Federation president George Meany said the AFL-CIO would have "no choice" but to charter a rebel bakers' group if the ouster goes through.

The Bakers' executive board backed union president James G. Cross in boycotting the hour-long council meeting this morning. Cross has repeatedly refused to resign, the main demand made by the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

Sources within the federation said the bakery union would have to show signs of compliance by Thursday noon to avoid ouster.

Meany said the union would have to abandon a policy of "reprisals and threats" against Cross' opponents, who seek to bolt from the 160,000 member union to stay with the AFL-CIO.

In his first encouragement of the rebels' hopes to get AFL-CIO recognition, Meany told the convention "we must save what we can" of the bakers for the "trade union movement."

Meantime, the council moved to suspend the 25,000-member Distillery Workers unless it agreed to AFL-CIO demands. Former officials were asked to allow AFL-CIO leaders to direct union affairs to avoid ouster.

The AFL-CIO convention voted Monday by nearly a 7 to 1 margin to expel the Bakers but gave the council the power to pronounce the death sentence.

The penalty against the bakers was not as severe as the outright expulsion voted Friday against the 1,500,000-member Teamsters Union. About twice as many votes were racked up by the truck union in its effort to block ouster.

Action against the 40,000-member United Textile Workers, also under fire on corruption charges, was expected to follow the pattern set in the bakers' case. The council prepared to ask for the power to expel at some future date if there was no clean-up.

Cross, major target of corruption charges, again refused to step down and the bakers' Executive Board voted to boycott a council meeting called by Meany.

The council wanted to find out if the union was willing to comply with AFL-CIO clean-up directives, including removal of its president.

Filipino Bride Held in Murder

FRANKLIN, Pa. (UP) — Mrs. Lydia Dean, 21, a Filipino war bride, has been charged with first degree murder in the fatal shooting of her Air Force husband who, she said, wanted a divorce to marry another girl.

Dist. Atty. Robert T. Grannis filed the charge against Mrs. Dean, mother of a 3-year-old girl, Monday before Alderman E. G. Bolmer. The Venango County Bar Assn. has promised Mrs. Dean full legal aid.

Library Trustees Take Office Here; Discuss Building Plans

Recently appointed trustees of Monessen's municipal library yesterday were sworn-in, organized and immediately went to work completing plans for a new building authorized by local voters last month.

The brief swearing-in ceremony took place in the office of City Clerk Francis Crum with Crum administering the oath to six of the seven trustees.

The group then moved to the adjacent office of the mayor and organized itself.

Elected to offices were: Harry R. Pore Jr., president; Sam D. Stern, vice president; Margaret Russell, secretary; Charles C. Throop, treasurer, and Vivian L. Drake, assistant secretary.

Other trustees who took office are Dr. R.E. Plamer Jr. and John G. Check Jr. A seventh member, Edwin A. Dawson, was unable to be present.

Talk With Architect

Miss Drake is librarian of the present library operated by the Civic Library Association and is not a member of the new board of trustees.

Following the organization the trustees conferred with Architect J. Russell Bailey, of Orange, Va., who is designing the new building. Bailey was authorized to proceed with working plans and specifications.

The architect, a nationally known specialist in library design, has spent more than a year already in preparation of preliminary plans. These were approved yesterday with some minor changes.

It is expected that the plans will be submitted for contractors' bids early next spring with construction to begin promptly thereafter.

The voters approved a city bond issue of $200,000 to finance the building.

Members of the Civic Library Association are scheduled to meet tomorrow to approve transfer of the association's assets, including the Donner Ave. building site, to the city government.

This meeting will be held in the Library on Fifth St. at 5 p.m. Members of the association may attend in person or be represented by proxy.

Donora Estate Sued for Hurts From Accident

Two suits seeking to recover more than $15,000 have been filed in Washington County Court against Ida Garcia, 1602 Meldon Ave., Donora, administratrix of the estate of Albert Garcia, deceased.

The suits cover six counts for injuries alleged to have been received by at least four persons.

The plaintiffs in these suits are Glenn H. Alderson and Virginia M. Alderson, 616 Regent St., Houston, and William Nitchel and Mary B. Nitchel, 103 Hall Ave., Meadowlands.

The alleged accident occurred at about 1:25 a.m., Jan. 27, 1957, on Route 18, about two and one-half miles south of Slovan. The complaints set forth that a car owned by Theodore Kaesmarek and driven by Albert Garcia allegedly crossed the center line and collided with the machine of William Nitchel.

It is alleged that both Nitchel and his wife, together with their passengers, Glenn H. Alderson and Virginia M. Alderson, were severely and permanently injured

To Open North Charleroi Ballot Box Thursday

Washington County Judge George T. Cummins has set aside Thursday as the date for the opening of a ballot box for a correct count of votes for burgess of North Charleroi in the Nov. general election.

The ballot box for the second precinct will be opened to decide the race between Burgess John McKay and Democratic nominee Roy Muckle Sr. The two ran a dead heat and a pill drawing had to be held, with Muckle getting the low and winning number.

The opinion has now been held that both ballot boxes in the community—and not just one—should have been ordered opened. However, this is impossible due to the fact that the deadline for such a petition has passed.

B. V. Foundation Reorganization Meeting Monday

The Belle Vernon Greater Foundation will hold a reorganization meeting Monday at 7 p.m. at Bellmar High School.

At the same time, the organization will consider proposals submitted concerning property it owns on Graham and Hill Sts. between Locust and Vine Sts. The Foundation, which was founded 10 years ago, bought the property originally to develop into a playground.

According to reliable reports, private investors are interested in purchasing this and other properties in the area for a proposed commercial development.

The investors already have held an informal meeting with Council requesting that a portion of Hill St. be vacated. No action was taken

It was learned today that several members of the Foundation are against such a move.

This probably will be the main topic of discussion at Monday's meeting.

Gricas told Justice of the Peace Thomas Petrus that Kudelski forced him out of the family home at 530 Ohio St. at gunpoint before the shooting incident occurred.

Jobless Claims High At Office in Valley

The slowdown in industrial operations, particularly steel, has resulted in unemployment claims increasing about 60 per cent from Nov. 1 to Dec. 6, according to figures obtained today from the Charleroi office of the state Bureau of Employment Security.

A complete breakdown of the figures was not obtainable because "individual offices are not permitted to reveal them," Robert B. Steiner, manager, said.

He said these must be released by the regional office in Pittsburgh but only after it has cleared the figures through the main office in Harrisburg.

Steiner did say, however, that the "claim load is very high" for the Charleroi office.

He said he was not in a position to confirm a report that over 1,000 new claims were filed last week, mostly by steelworkers from the Monessen and Allenport plants of Pittsburgh Steel Co. and Donora plant of U. S. Steel's American Steel & Wire Co. Inc. There were also numerous claims filed by workers furloughed at U. S. Steel's Irvin Works in Clairton, it was learned.

Besides saying he is not permitted to reveal claim figures, Steiner said there is also a "long-standing rule" which frowns on taking "front-view" pictures of persons filing or collecting claims.

He cited this rule when a photographer from The Daily Independent sought to take a picture of a long-list of claimants yesterday.

He said many claimants resent having their pictures taken for publication. Steiner said there is nothing wrong with taking pictures in which faces would not be recognizable.

Eisenhower Deserves Nation's Support

REPORTS from Washington are pretty well agreed that President Eisenhower has made a decision to carry on actively as President regardless of any personal risk as a result of his recent stroke and his previous illnesses. It is said that Mr. Eisenhower not only is not sparing himself but is actually putting his strength and endurance to the test of almost normal activity.

To what extent the President's doctors have participated in this decision we are not told. But there are reports that Mrs. Eisenhower and their son, John, have objected to it.

We cannot help but admire the President's courage. He is behaving like the brave soldier he is. He is putting duty before life itself.

But whether Mr. Eisenhower is doing the right thing for the country is another question. And on this we have our doubts.

* * *

THE NATURE of the President's difficulty is such that he is susceptible to another stroke or heart attack which could disable him seriously for an indefinite period if it did not kill him outright. The standard medical treatment for people who have suffered strokes and heart attacks is reduced activity, freedom from strain and tension, and rest. Obviously, if Mr. Eisenhower is carrying the full responsibilities of his office, he is not accepting this treatment. Hence the risk is far greater than it would be for individuals in other situations.

* * *

HOWEVER, we fully respect the right of the President to make the decision he has made. Undoubtedly he has weighed the matter carefully in all its aspects and has concluded that he must do what he is doing.

This being true, he is entitled now to the full support of his associates in the executive branch, of his poltical party, of the leaders of Congress and of the American people as a whole. He is our President; he is in full command of his faculties; and he is dedicating his life to the nation's service in line with his concept of his responsibilities. In all conscience we owe him our cooperation.

After all, where matters of life and death are concerned, the judgments of mere men, including doctors, have limited validity at most. As a God-fearing people, we know we are all in the hands of our Maker, and it is wisest sometimes not to anticipate His intentions.

Victory for Decency

THE OUSTER of the Teamsters union from the AFL-CIO can only be regarded as a great victory for decency in the labor movement. Right up to the last minute, tempting deals were offered to President George Meany of the AFL-CIO to keep the Teamsters and thus preserve the dues income and the membership power which the Teamsters contributed to the federation. But Mr. Meany resisted them all, and the delegates upheld him and ousted the Teamsters by a five-to-one vote.

It would be hard to exaggerate the importance of this courageous action at a critical moment. It means, among other things, that an overwhelming majority of the nation's unions are prepared to put principle before expediency. And this is not the first time such a choice will be presented to them.

However, the AFL-CIO action, for all its importance, will have limited effect. The Teamsters union remains in the tight control of crooked leaders. And these leaders are saying, in effect, that their power does not rest upon the acceptance and support of decent, law-abiding Americans. Their power rests upon a rotten system that condones bribery, goons, violence, racketeering and outright thievery.

These men are a menace to society as a whole and not just to the labor movement. And because they have been kicked out of the main stream of organized labor does not mean that they have ceased to be a menace.

The representatives of the people in Congress are preparing to deal with this menace by legislation designed to restrict the creation and abuse of power acquired in the name of labor. This must be done carefully, but it must be done courageously. And the AFL-CIO action makes it likely that it will be done with the active support of the decent leadership of the unions.

Merry-Go-Round—

Duplication On Missiles Irks Senator

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Some of the confusion in the missile-satellite program which gave the Russians a billion dollars worth of propaganda when our sputnik went kaput in Florida, was highlighted during the recent White House conference with Congressional leaders. Sen. Clinton Anderson, New Mexico Democrat, grilled the new Secretary of Defense, Neil McElroy, unmercifully regarding our snafus.

Mr. Pearson

"The Navaho missile was started in 1946," he pointed out, "and terminated in 1956. It was an air-breathing missile, yet it went above 65,000 feet where there isn't any air to breathe. North American Aviation, which was manufacturing it, knew this. Yet North American continued making the Navaho until 1956 at a cost to the taxpayers of $700,000,000. Why?"

"Well, we stopped it," replied Deputy Defense Secretary Donald Quarles. "Was that a good job or not?"

"It sure was," replied the Senator from New Mexico, proceeding immediately to other duplications in the missile program.

"You've got the Little John and the Honest John," he pointed out. "They're both about the same. The Little John has a range of 15 miles, the Honest John a range of 20 miles. They're both classified as artillery weapons. They both use solid fuel, both are produced for the Army, one by Emerson Electric and Douglas, the other by Douglas and Hercules Powder.

"Why this duplication? Are we just trying to help the aviation companies pay dividends?

Sergeant vs. Corporal

"Then there are the Sergeant and the Corporal. Both are artillery weapons, both produced for the Army, the Sergeant with a range of 50 miles, the Corporal with a range of 75 miles. Can anyone tell me the real difference in the mission of the two?"

"There is one very interesting development in the Sergeant," Anderson was told.

Anderson, who is chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, is an expert on nuclear weapons. He claimed that the administration needed a central office of missile control, and he continued citing examples.

"Here is the Dart. It's an anti-tank missile. It darts up and down and all over the landscape. It's a pretty missile. But it's built to fight tanks. And can anyone tell me that tanks will be moving in the next war?"

To this there was no answer.

The Senator from New Mexico went on to point out that the Defense Department was turning out five different missiles with a range of 5,000 miles.

"I realize that these carry different types of fuel," he said, "but the point is that they all carry hydrogen warheads and they all travel 5,000 miles — the Titan, the Atlas, the Snark, and possibly Pluto and Rover."

Ike Interrupts

At this point President Eisenhower, who had been listening carefully, interrupted.

"The Snark isn't a ballistic missile," he corrected.

"That's true," replied Anderson, "but my point is: "Do you need five separate missiles to go 5,000 miles?"

As Anderson continued prodding Secretary McElroy regarding inter-service rivalry which he said not only confused the missile program but cost the taxpayers extra money, Eisenhower broke in again, this time pounding the table.

He said he meant no offense against the Senator, but that there were a great many so-called "experts" who seemed to know more about missiles than competent authorities in defense agencies. He said our "best brains" had been at work on the program and that he had to rely on their judgment.

Nobody in or out of the government, the President said, was infallible on the relative merits or demerits of the various missiles and satellite projectiles that had been under development. He added that the missiles field was so "enormous and technical" that it was not surprising if there were differences of opinion between the military services.

"I myself am not an expert on this question and have never claimed to be," the President insisted. He made a sweeping gesture with his arm, as though to emphasize the magnitude of the problem.

"Sometimes my desk has been covered with plans of missiles in various stages of development," he continued. "I think you gentlemen will agree that it can be rather confusing. I know I have been confused at times. But I am nonetheless convinced that we are in good shape and that it won't be long before we demonstrate our leadership in missiles and satellites."

This did not answer the questions of his Democratic guests, but they did not pursue the interrogation further.

From Washington—

More Unity in Ike Cabinet

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

In facing the difficult period during which the President will be partly sidelined, the Eisenhower administration today has a source of strength it didn't have a year ago.

That source of strength is cabinet unity on vital policy.

Mr. Drummond

At the very beginning of the 1957 legislative year the Eisenhower cabinet split open at the top. This split touched the match to a yearlong wrangle over the "battle of the budget" which never ceased to plague the president from the moment it started.

It won't happen this year. This is one of the special and much-needed assets the White House will have in its hands.

This is not accidental. There's a reason. The reason is predominately the absence of George Humphrey as Secretary of the Treasury and the presence of Robert Anderson as his successor.

No Internal Dispute

The importance of this change is not merely that there will be no intra-administration battle of the budget. That is a boon in itself, but the larger importance is:

That the administration will not be dragging a massive anchor in drawing up the defense budget.

That the President will this year have as his chief fiscal officer a Secretary of the Treasury who is genuinely in sympathy with his principal foreign and domestic measures.

This is not to suggest that there will be no strong, pro and con argument over what the final level of defense spending should be. There has already been such a debate within the cabinet and, with Vice President Nixon himself taking a decisive lead, a no-timidity decision was taken; namely, that in the area of both defense and foreign aid the administration will ask Congress for everything it thinks is needed, not merely for what he suspects Congress might be willing to vote.

Humphrey Differed

I do not mean to imply that Mr. Humphrey, when he was Secretary of the Treasury, opposed everything Mr. Eisenhower wanted and sought invariably to deflect him. That is not true. It is true, however, that he was privately out of sympathy with much that the President stood for, and, as Mr. Eisenhower once remarked wistfully to a friend: "It isn't that George can't be persuaded, but he doesn't stay persuaded."

What is significant is that Secretary Anderson, while completely conservative in his fiscal views, believes that conservative policies must deal boldly with the problems of the world we are living in, not shrink from them.

Anyone who knows how the new Secretary of the Treasury thinks about these matters is aware that his approach is this:

He believes deeply that in drawing up the 1958-59 budget the first and unchallenged priority must be defense.

Security First

He believes that the administration should decide what is imperatively needed for security and then take whatever fiscal measures are needed to cope with the required defense spending.

In any realistic figuring, he is not prepared to put his finger on a budget total and say that if such a total is reached, the nation is going to have a "hair-curling depression."

He sees foreign economic aid as vital to American defense and to the effective conduct of the cold war; he would put the economic aid appropriation in the same priority category as defense itself.

He is a long-time advocate of the reciprocal trade program and will be a strong administration witness in behalf of extension of the act.

All this means that there will be stable cabinet unity on the hardest policy decisions which the administration is now in the process of resolving. It will make it easier for the President to make these decisions and, once they are made, they will rest on cabinet agreement which will not be split off by divided counsels.

Stalinists Threating Khrushchev's Position

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Nikita S. Khrushchev, Soviet Russia's Communist party chieftain, is reported to be in trouble.

On the surface, it would appear that Khrushchev's position as No. 1 man in the Kremlin had been strengthened by the purges which resulted in the ousting of Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Georgi M. Malenkov, Lazar M. Kaganovich and Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov.

Mr. McCann

But reports which have reached European capitals say that on the contrary, Khrushchev's position is exceedingly insecure.

The reason, according to these reports, is that there remain in the Russian Communist Party a large number of influential officials who favor the old Stalinist line of dictatorship.

These officials, the reports say, are members of the many district and provincial Communist committees of the Soviet Union.

A lot of these men appear to be veterans who survived the various purges of Stalin's era. There also appear to be a number of younger men who started their rise in rank under Stalin.

Have Friends in Party

It is indicated that Molotov, Malenkov, Kaganovich and Zhukov have many friends still in the Communist Party and that these friends are by no means reconciled to their disgrace.

When he won his critical test of power with Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich last June, Khrushchev packed the Communist Party Central Committee with his own men.

But some Stalinists remain in both the Central Committee and the Presidium, the 15 top men of the committee who really rule Russia.

One known, and powerful, Stalinist who remains on the Presidium is Mikhail A. Suslov.

Suslov is 55, eight years younger than Khrushchev. He is regarded as a protege of Malenkov. He was made a member of the Central Committee in 1939 and a member of the Presidium in 1955.

Suslov Gave Support

Suslov supported Khrushchev in his clash with Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich. He also took a leading part in the ousting of Zhukov.

In fact, there is some reason to believe that Suslov was the prime mover in the ousting of Zhukov because of Zhukov's opposition to Communist domination over the army. It has been reported that Khrushchev felt himself compelled to go along with this ouster move.

A Belgrade dispatch published in the London Daily Telegraph reported recently that the two Yugoslav delegates who attended the recent Communist get-together in Moscow returned home with a report that Khrushchev was in danger because of the strength of the Stalinist element in leadership.

In any event, it seems certain that Khrushchev is far from being Russia's dictator. The next Kremlin clash might be between him and Suslov.

The Lighter Side—

Does Pizza Have a Future, Quigg Asks

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—Hats off today—chef's caps, that is — to a dish that has conquered the Western world. We speak, naturally, of the powerful pizza, new champion popular eatable, which rose from obscurity in the streets of Naples.

Born in the dim antiquity of Italian cookery, shaped with loving skill by some Neapolitan genius with munching on his mind, the lowly pizza lay for generations unhonored, unsung, while the hot dog soared to fame in America and the ice cream cone slid down a myriad of gullets.

The pizza just couldn't seem to get off the ground. But suddenly, a few years ago, it just took off like an unguided missile and began rambling all over.

Pizza Success Story

James Beard, a food and cooking expert who travels constantly in his advisory and cooking-school work, states flatly that the pizza now is "the Western world's most popular food." That's a big statement but Beard is a big man (6-feet-3, 260 pounds) and he's willing to be stuck with it. Pizza, he claims, has achieved ubiquity.

Interviewed over a 75-cent hunk of cheesecake, he explained: "As you know, the pizza has zoomed to eminence in the United States. Four years ago, I found it was beginning to show around Europe. two years ago, it was more in evidence there. This year, I found it everywhere, spread all over Europe."

All right, but will it last? Does it have staying power, or will it die out, like the comedians on television? Time will tell.

Meanwhile, Beard is willing to demonstrate he is absolutely fearless in the field of opinion by naming the 10 best-eating cities in the United States, in terms of food obtainable at great restaurants.

Remember this is the man who has authored "Cook it Outdoors," "Hors d'Oeuvres and Canapes," "Fowl and Game Cookery," "The Fireside Cookbook," "Paris Cuisine," "Fish Cookbook," "How to Eat Better for Less Money," "The Party Cookbook," "The Complete Book of Outdoor Cookery," and next year is coming out with Beard's "Basic" cookbook.

Best-Eating Cities

Here goes, by the numbers, and in the order named, and it's his neck that's sticking out, not mine:

1—New York "certainly;" 2—Los Angeles "perhaps;" 3—San Francisco, "In the old days, until and during Prohibition, there were only San Francisco and New York at the top, but that's been changed;" 4—Chicago; 5 — Detroit "Because of only two people;" 6—New Orleans; 7—Boston; 8 — The section between Palm Beach and Miami, in season; 9—The Cape Cod section, including the islands, in season; 10—A tie, Seattle and Dallas.

Now that that ordeal is over, let's turn to another one, said to be common at this season, the hangover. Beard is the creator of a number of hangover drinks. For sufferers, here's one free of charge:

"A jigger of cognac, the yolk of an egg, a dash of Worcestershire sauce, and a pinch of salt —all in a six-ounce glass. Keep the yolk intact. Drink fast. Don't dawdle."

Okay. Me, I like cool, clear water.

The Woman's View—

Allowances for Parents

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP) — A talk with Millicent Trichler convinces me the wrong members of the family get the allowance.

Let the kids pay the parents.

None of the small fry financiers Miss Trichler knows has reached the Jean Paul Getty category . . . yet. But the children are doing nicely, thank you, through a national savings program. Miss Trichler said 4,350,000 grade school youngers have school savings accounts. Their balances (before Christmas shopping) totaled close to 177 million dollars or 36 million dollars more than last year.

Saving Comes Naturally

Some of their holdings are through regular allowances; some through their earnings at after-school or vacation jobs. Miss Trichler, assistant treasurer of the New York Dollar Savings Bank, has been in banking 25 years, most of it spent with the school savings program. She is former head of the American Banking Association's Committee on School Savings.

"Saving comes naturally to children," said Miss Trichler. "They're great collectors, you know. Stamps . . . marbles. . . butterflies . . . toads. And money."

Regularity Of Saving

But what the banking industry wants, through the classroom plan, is to train children in the regularity of saving. The program originated in the late 1880's, Miss Trichler said. Now, 627 banks handle grade schoolers' accounts; a few even will take kindergarten depositors.

Deposits range from five cents right on up, and Miss Trichler said that the average child, by the time he's ready for high school, has a balance of $165. Seventy per cent of the junior financiers then transfer their savings to regular accounts.

One thing about the way most banks run the program: Junior's account is better protected from parental raids, than is his piggy bank. A parent cannot withdraw without the signature of the child.

The Church of Latter Day Saints doesn't uphold the practice of plural marriages.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY LUNCHEON — Here are a few of the many members of the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital Auxiliary at the annual holiday luncheon held by the Auxiliary yesterday in the hospital board room. The Auxiliary presented the hospital with a $15,000 gift at the luncheon.

Auxiliary Gives $15,000 to C-M Hospital

A gift of $15,000 was presented to the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital yesterday during the annual holiday luncheon of the Hospital Auxiliary.

Mrs. T. C. Montgomery, president of the Auxiliary, made the presentation, which was accepted by Russell Stone, hospital administrator.

The money will be used to cover the following items:

Equipment costing $1,305 for heart emergency cases and use during surgical operations. The equipment comprising three units, is specially designed to restore the heart beat following stoppage, to restore normal pulsation of the heart following fibrilation (quivering of muscle fiber in the heart) and to monitor various signa, such as heart beat, pulse rate, etc. during surgical operations.

Equipment costing approximately $4,700. This comprises cubicle rods and curtains necessary to provide semi-privacy for patients occupying multiple bedrooms. There are 46 such rooms without this accommodation.

Equipment and alterations costing approximating $5,000 have been approved to provide for air conditioning in the four operating rooms of the hospital and other improvements to better accommodate patients undergoing surgery and to facilitate the working of the surgeon.

Mrs. Montgomery explained that most of the Auxiliary revenue is supplied by the gift shop and gift cart. In addition, the Auxiliary sponsors several projects each year, including a tag day rummage sale, spring charity ball and card parties.

It was also announced that the solarium has been remodeled into a recreation room for cardiac and wheel chair convalescents.

Auxiliary members will staff the room. They will read to the patients, write letters and play card games.

The redecorating of the room will amount to approximately $350 and should be completed by the first of the year, Mrs. Montgomery stated. The walls are being painted a turquoise.

A new feature started by the Auxiliary is the "get well coloring books" in the children's ward. These books are illustrated with original drawings of real life scenes.

The Holiday Luncheon took place in the conference room of the hospital. It was prepared by Miss Gloria McFarlane and her staff.

The tables lent a festive atmosphere with the Santa Claus centerpiece and place settings of miniature Santas.

Mrs. John Swan offered the invocation.

Currie, vice-president; Mrs. Melvin Tubin, second vice president; Mrs. Shaner Blythe, recording secretary; Mrs. John Swan, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Russell Stone, treasurer; Mrs. J. Most Deserving of Honor

Tomorrow night at popular Twin Coaches on Route 51, a Monessen man will be honored for his contributions to valley sports . . . A more deserving man than Tom Preston, former Monessen High School Faculty Manager, Athletic Director and jack-of-all-trades, has never been honored . . . He has almost become a legend at Monessen High School in particular and in the City of Monessen in general . . . The Mon Valley Sports Writers Association will pay tribute to Tom and two other valley sportsmen, Steve Stephanian, grid official and former Charleroi High coach for over 20 years, and Floyd France, editor of the Monongahela newspaper, who founded the Big Five Conference while a sports editor in 1925 . . . The honors will be made at the annual banquet for the Big Five All-Stars tomorrow night.

Speaking of the Sportwriters' fete, tickets here are going at a terrific rate with the original Monessen quota increased twice in the past week and still a call for more came in this morning . . . Incidentally, this writer will be one of the proudest fellows at tomorrow night's affair when Floyd France is honored for we worked for that grand guy for over five years while stationed at the Monongahela sports post and we're tickled to death he's being recognized after so many years for his conference efforts . . . More basketball tournaments are being announced as the holiday week approaches, the latest being a four-team go at New Kensington with the Kensters, Beaver Falls, Homestead and Mt. Lebanon participating.

Bewszka, Lewitsky Top Scorers

A final check of the sports statistics for the 1957 football season here reveals that Steve Bewszka led the local Monessen Junior High eleven in scoring with four touchdowns for 24 points, followed by Kenny DiGiacomo with 19 and Philip Reed with 12 . . . Chuck Darby had three extra points, Tony Romasco two . . . Jimmy Lewitsky topped the Jayvee scorers with 19 of the 40 points in the only game played by that team against McKeesport, a 40-20 victory for Monessen . . . Brian Laszewski had seven markers, Richard Bass and Steve Burns six each, Kenny Walters and Carl Payne, an extra point each . . . The Juniors won three without a loss, by the way, defeating Canonsburg, Brownsville and Charleroi.

Another deer report came in listing Robert Siple, 17, a senior at Monessen High, who formerly delivered The Daily Independent in his home area, as the proud owner of a 10½-inch "spiker" downed in Venango County on the first day of the buck season last Monday . . . He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Siple of 416 First street . . . Tickled to get reports of the many deer "bags" but more pleased not to be receiving any accident reports . . . So far this has been one of the safest seasons in years . . . Penn State's 1957 grid team scored in double figures in each of its nine games, averaging 18.5 points per game . . . But it was the Nittany Lion soccer team which boasted the most prolific scoring with 56 goals in 10 games, 20 of them by Bill Fiedler, Philadelphia sophomore on the Lion eleven.

All-State Mention for O'Toole

Dennis O'Toole, Monessen end, was given an honorable mention berth on a Harrisburg newspaper's All-State team . . . Only sports writers serviced by the same wire as the Harrisburg paper (which this newspaper is not) were eligible to vote . . . Ollie Payne of Charleroi and Angie Dabiero of Donora won first team berths . . . Armand Niccolai and Roy DeRocco were in charge of the arrangements for the trip to the Steeler-Giants game by the St. Cajetan Holy Name men Saturday which proved so enjoyable, especially since the Steelers won . . . A spaghetti dinner followed in the church hall . . . Incidentally, the Steelers have won the last five times the St. Cajetan men witnessed them in action.

Zuppke Rated One of All-Time Grid Coaches

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—"The Dutchman" is back in the hospital again today for the third time in two years but even at 77 those who know him are betting on the man who turned Red Grange loose on the gridiron world and must rate as one of the greatest football coaches of them all.

That would be Robert Carl Zuppke. A fellow, just in case you've forgotten, who coached the Fighting Illini to 131 wins against 81 losses and 12 ties from 1913 through 1941.

Zup retired 16 years ago and it's possible that some of you youngsters may have lost him in the shadow of Knute Rockne, who was his contemporary and friendly foe, because the Dutchman never was identified with a system.

Fits System to Material

"I tried to fit the formation to the material I had at hand," Zup once explained.

But he did much more than that. Zuppke actually evolved the basic T-formation at Chicago's Oak Park High School in 1911, originated the huddle, perfected the spiral pass from center and sired the screen pass.

Zup gained added fame, after his retirement from the gridiron at the age of 62, as the "Rembrandt of the prairies." But while his oils are highly prized, he served a long apprenticeship which started when he quit school at 13 to become a sign painter.

Born in Berlin, Zup immigrated with his family to Milwaukee when he was two years old. After that first swing with a sign painter's brush he returned to graduate from high school, went back to sign painting and then again returned to his schooling by matriculating at the University of Wisconsin.

Tried Painting Again

Art got another cut from the Zuppke brush even before football. But after an unsuccessful "fling" at painting in New York, Zuppke took a post as football coach at Muskegon, Mich., High School in 1906. In 1909 he moved to Oak Park where, it might be added, one of his players was a lad named Ernest Hemingway, who also has contributed his bit to the arts.

Then, in 1913, Zuppke turned down offers from several other colleges to start a 28-year tenure which made him a legend at Illinois.

Remembered even more than the success of his teams, which captured seven Big Ten championships, was the Zuppke wit. When one critic contended that "all Grange can do is run," Zup shot back caustically:

"And all Galli-Curci can do is sing."

Once one of his players was taking it too easy in practice and Zuppke chided him about his poor tackling. On the next play, the player drove in for an unusually hard tackle and beamed:

Rostraver Football Rapped

Critics Address Board

Rostraver Township's School Board listened patiently last night to several complaints over the Senior High football situation.

There were no arguments. The directors appeared to agree with the visitors.

The Leps failed to win a game this past season. Last year they won just one, while tying another.

Frank Buscanics, district sportscaster, opened the discussion by recounting the Rostraver football record over the past two years.

"This past year, Rostraver was last in the WPIAL," said Buscanics. "That was a disgrace."

"I'm not going to say it was the coach's fault. But certainly there's something wrong with out football program somewhere."

Buscanics pointed out that the crowds this past season were "very poor."

"That means the taxpayer has to dig deeper to support the football program," he added.

"But more important, football has a place in our system of education. And at Rostraver we are letting the boys down even though we have the finest facilities around."

Buscanics added that he considered the present coach Wade Bender a fine person and an excellent teacher. But he contended it was time for some sort of a change.

Schedule Rapped

The sportscaster also criticized the Rostraver schedule, pointing out that two Class A foes were dropped for two Class B teams this past season.

"And both of the B teams whipped us something terrible," he added.

Several other persons present supported Buscanics' view. They included Hudson Bell and George Kuma, who spoke briefly.

Bender, who was not present, was strongly defended by Rostraver High School principal, Clifford Naylor, himself a former coach.

Naylor said he felt the 1957 team was "coached to the best of its ability."

He described Bender as an excellent teacher and praised him for character-building.

Naylor observed that if there's something wrong with the school's football situation, the blame does not lie with the coach.

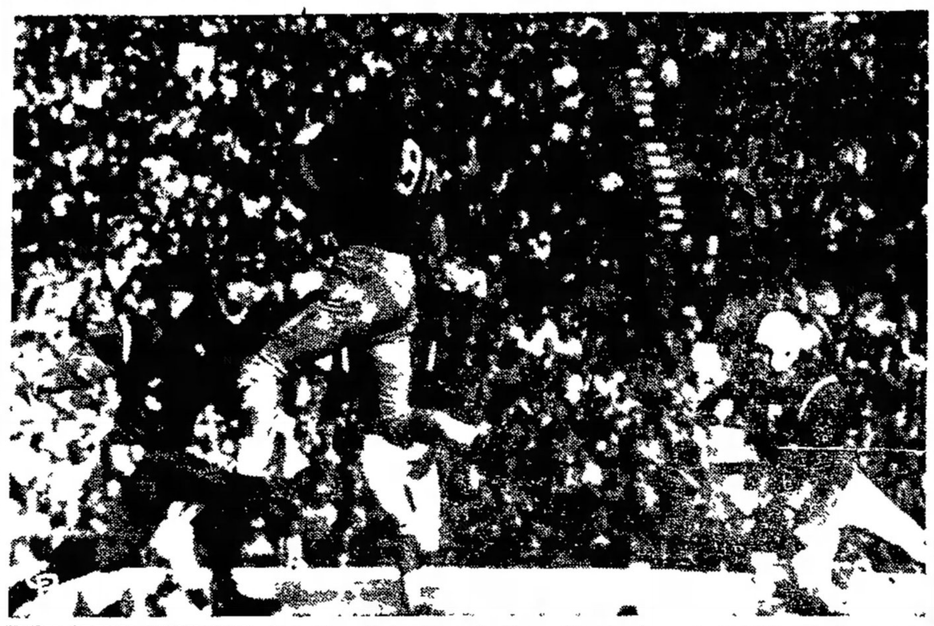
One school director, Thomas Patterson, thanked Buscanics for appearing at the meeting, stating:

"This is just what we need. I hope this will move us to some action."

John Deter, president of the Board, concluded the session by remarking:

"I think we're all agreed that something has to be done."

None of the directors offered a dissent to that observation.



IRISH CRUSH MUSTANGS: 54-to-21 — Notre Dame's Monty Stickles leaps high in the air to grab a pass from teammate Bob Williams as Southern Methodist players move in to tackle him in the second period of the game played at Dallas, Tex. An alert Notre Dame team, in their final game of the season, intercepted five passes and recovered two Mustang fumbles to compile the biggest score in the history of the series between the two schools.

Bellmar Boosters Form Club; Elect Earl Neil Head

Approximately 40 former athletes and current Bellmar sports fans met and formed a Bellmar Boosters Club at a meeting in the Belle Vernon American Legion Home last night.

Earl Neil, ex-Belle Vernon High gridder, who later starred for the Monessen Ravens here, was selected president of the new group.

Elected First Vice President was Joe Cramer, another former Belle Vernon athlete. Second Vice President is Alex Toia to serve with Anthony Marion, named secretary, and James Caputo, the first treasurer of the organization.

Chosen as a board of directors was Joe Sarra, for the Fayette City area of the Bellmarette Jointure; Don McClintock for the Fairhope-Lynnwood area and James Sidary and James Cramer for the North Belle Vernon-Belle Vernon area.

It was pointed out at the meeting that additional directors will be elected in the near future with any interested parties eligible for nomination.

Al Ferrari, president of the successful Charleroi Booster Club addressed the Bellmar group preceding the election last night and explained in detail the workings of a Booster organization.

Clair Brown, sports writer of The Daily Independent, who will serve as publicity director for the new Booster Club, also addressed the group.

The meeting was conducted by Jim Cramer, Sarra and Caputo.

'Monessen Touch' at MVC Fete Tomorrow

Everything was in readiness for the Eighth Annual Mon Valley Sports Writers' Dinner for the Big Five Conference All-Star team and coaches tomorrow night at Twin Coaches on Route 51.

As in most events concerning sports in the Monongahela Valley, there will be a Monessen touch to the affair, especially when it comes time to pass out the awards.

After Terry Brennan, Notre Dame's successful young grid mentor, Bob Feller, former Cleveland Indian star pitcher, Joe L. Brown, general manager of the Pirates and Danny Murtaugh, field manager of the Pirates, present their remarks to the gridders, and the other many celebrities present, like Johnny Michelosen of the Panthers, Rip Engle of Penn State and Art Lewis of West Virginia are introduced, no less than nine Monessenites will be honored.

Honor for Preston

First of all, a man who can be best described as "Mr. Monessen High School Sports", Tom Preston, will be called to receive a plaque honoring him for his contributions to valley sports. The others to be honored along with Preston are Steve Stepanian, former Charleroi High athletic coach (for 20 years), currently an able valley grid arbiter, and Floyd France, Monongahela newspaperman, who founded the Mon Valley Conference in 1925.

The eight others with Monessen backgrounds to be cited will be the boys voted to the 1957 Valley Conference All-Star team. These include, Dan Barton, quarterback, Dennis O'Toole, end and Jim Aldrich, tackle, on the first team; Ken Bronson, halfback, and Bob Pauline, guard, on the second team; and honorable mention selections, Ed Allen, tackle, Joe Karbowsky halfback and Carl Rattay, fullback.

Starting time is 6:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

The inimitable Bob Prince will again serve as master of ceremonies.

Unbeaten Raiders Have Height for First Time in Years

Coach Frank Janosik takes his Monessen High School basketball team to Uniontown tonight to battle the unbeaten Red Raiders of Coach Abe Everhart.

Uniontown is the defending Section 4 champion, having won 20 games against only five defeats last season, including a playoff loss to McKeesport in the WPIAL eliminations.

The Raiders usually boast a small but speedy quintet but this year some height has been added like Sanford Stephens, of football fame, a 6-0 guard on the cage squad first team; Jim Jones, the 6-3 sophomore center; Chris Wilson, a 6-2 senior guard and Bill Foster a 6-6 reserve center.

Main spark of the Everhartmen, however, is Mel Freeman, 5-10 senior, who has scored 64 points in the first three games for Uniontown in victories over Georges, Trinity and Monongahela, all by lop-sided scores.

Stephens No. 2 Cager

Stephens is considered the No 2 man on the squad with Bob Crawford, a 5-8 junior forward, the other starter in addition to Freeman, Wilson, Jones and Stephens.

Jim Crawford, 5-9 brother of Bob, is a top reserve like Foster, as is Ernie Epps, a 5-8 sophomore.

The players mentioned here are the "first eight" of the Red Raider 1957-58 club although other players see action when the score mounts.

Everhart is assisted by John Kruper, former North Belle Vernon (now Bellmar) High School coach. Kruper starred in all sports at old Fayette City High School.

Coach Frank Janosik of the locals will probably start Joe Kurey and Bill Makinen at forwards, Dick DiBiaso at center with Charles Bill and George Murin or Myron Sepitko at the guards.

The varsity game starts at 8 o'clock preceded by the Jayvee clash with Coach Tony Caterino's improved five seeing action at 7 o'clock.

Spahn Is Only Old-Timer Among NL Hurling Stars

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK (UP) — Warren Spahn was the grand "old master" of National League pitchers this year but the circuit's real strength lies in its young stars"—aged 18 to 28.

The release of official statistics by the Elias Baseball Bureau showed that the 36-year-old Spahn's 21 victories for the Milwaukee Braves made him the league's only 20-game winner. It marked the eighth time Spahn entered the 20-win circle — extending his own league record for a left-hander.

At the same time, the figures actually were dominated by younger pitchers.

Podres ERA Leader

Johnny Podres, 25-year-old Brooklyn Dodger left-hander, was tops in the earned run average with 2.66 and also led with six shutouts. Spahn and 21-year-old Don Drysdale of the Dodgers tied for second at 2.69 in the ERA department.

The Braves' Bob Buhl, 29, ranked fourth with a 2.74 ERA and his .720 percentage (18-7 won-lost record) was the best among pitchers who appeared in 154 or more innings.

Jack Sanford, 28-year-old rookie of the Philadelphia Phillies, had a 19-8 record and led the circuit with 188 strikeouts. Next game the Chicago Cubs' precocious 21-year-old right-handers, Moe Drabowsky and Dick Drott, who tied at 170 strikeouts each.

Friend A Workhorse

Bob Friend, 27, had a 14-18 record with the Pittsburgh Pirates and led the league in three departments — innings pitched, 277, most starts, 38, and faced the most batters, 1148.

In all, 12 of the 15 pitchers with the lowest earned run averages over at least 154 innings were less than 30 years old. The three exceptions were Spahn, the 31-year-old Newcombe and 32-year-old Brooks Lawrence of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

There wasn't a single no-hitter in the league but one-hitters were turned in by the Braves' Lew Burdette, the Cardinals' 18-year-old Von McDaniel and Cincinnati's Johnny Klippstein. McDaniel's effort was a near-perfect game in which he faced only 27 batters.

Sportswriter Dies

MANHASSET, N.Y. (UP)— Caswell (Cas) Adams, a sports writer for the New York Herald Tribune and the New York Journal-American, died here Monday. Adams started his sports writing career with the Herald Tribune in 1927 and moved over to the Journal-American in 1953. He was 50.

Sporstmen's Corner—

Deer Kill Better Than Expected on First Day

The state-wide Pennsylvania deer kill on December 2, the first day of the 1957 buck season, may be described as nearly as high as that of the first day in 1956, when the harvest was considered as a representative one for the state.

According to field reports there was the usual variation, by area, in the number of hunters afield, and the kill, on the first day compared to other recent seasons. The bag of legal bucks, was better than expected under the prevailing conditions, however. Quite generally, high winds and noisy under foot conditions contributed to hunting difficultics. In a few northern counties there was only a trace of snow on the ground. The sportsmen therefore lacked an ally, a white background, which always contributed to deer hunting success.

Across the state, deer were reported as "healthy" or "in good flesh". The antlers, however were only fair to poor in the forested mountain areas. But in farming sections and in localities where timber was recently cut the racks were described as large, as a rule.

Most inspiring was the gun casualty report for the opening day, when the woods were full of hunters. Not a single fatality, caused by a hunter's firearm, was reported and only eleven known gun-caused injuries were reported by Game Protectors.

For the most part the conduct of the hunters was described as "good". The customary violations of the Game Law were taken in stride by the wildlife officers, as in previous years. Many hunters who mistakenly shot an illegal deer proved themselves good citizens. They reported their error and paid the one-fourth penalty assessed in such cases to a near-by Game Protector.

From everywhere in the Commonwealth came reports verifying earlier statements to the effect there were plenty of deer. This also predicts success for the many licensed antlerless deer hunters, when they go afield in their three-day "doe" season beginning December 16.

It was encouraging to note, also, that buck hunting in farming country has picked up considerably. Sportsmen who take a buck in an agricultural area will not not only bag a fat deer carrying a good rack as a rule, they will help reduce the damage to farmers' crops and will lessen the incidence of car-deer highway collisions and the danger to humans and property that accompanies them.

Dog 'Shoots' Foe—

One day in the 1957 small game season there was an unusual accident on a farm in Somerset County. Game Protector Edward Cox, reports: "When two hunting parties met near Friedens, and their rabbit dogs started to fight, the owner of one of the beagles laid his gun on the ground while he separated the battlers. In the scuffle his hound jumped on the trigger of the gun, discharging it and killing the other dog."

St. Francis Looms As District's Best; Edge Dukes, 65-64

By UNITED PRESS

St. Francis of Loretto, one of the tallest teams in the country, loomed today as perhaps the district's top basketball team off its performance against a Duquesne squad rated better than last season's edition.

The Frankies, who average 6-5 in height, capitalized on ball control Monday night to defeat the Dukes, 65-64, at the Pitt Field House.

Jack O'Malley, one of the smallest St. Francis players at 6-2, dropped in two foul shots with less than 30 seconds to play to ice the game. The Dukes had a chance to go ahead on a field goal attempt in the waning seconds but missed.

Penn State and Carnegie Tech highlight tonight's action with a game in the Skibo Gym. The Lions were defeated, 80-62, by North Carolina State last Saturday in their opener. Tech has dropped its only two games to Duquesne and DePauw.

Coach John Egli's squad will have a height advantage on the Tartans, who were expected to depend on fast breaking to stay ahead of the Lions. Ted Kubista, 6-4 junior, was Penn State's top scorer in the opener. Bob. Edwards at 6-5 is the Lions' tallest starting player and top rebounder.

Other games on tap tonight include Hiram at Allegheny, Slippery Rock at Clarion, Waynesburg at Wheeling, California at Indiana and Westminster at Thiel.

Frankie center Wilbur Trosch, a towering 6-8, was the high scorer Monday night with 17 points. Teammate Joe Aston (6-5) scored 16 points, while Bill Ryan with 16 and Bernie Mathews with 15 were high for the Dukes.

The game was close from the opening whistle with St. Francis barely keeping ahead for a 36-33 edge at intermission. The lead seesawed through the second half when the Dukes jumped in front at 64-63 with 29 seconds to play.

Duquesne's Bob DiPalma fouled O'Malley who was driving in and "little" Jack calmly dropped the two fouls that won the game.

CHICAGO (UP)— A total of $56,000 has been allocated by officials of National Golf Day to 10 golf charities. The money was obtained from the 1957 competition. The largest amount, $26,000, went to the Western Golf Assn.'s caddy scholarship fund.

Maryland Defeats Kentucky, 71-62, in Top College Upset

By FRED DOWN

Is Maryland really that good or is Kentucky in for an "off year?"

That's the big question in college basketball today after the unranked Terrapins whipped third-ranked Kentucky, 71-62, in the biggest upset of the season so far. It was the third straight victory for Maryland and the first loss for Kentucky after three wins in tight games.

Coach Bud Millikan said before the season he believed he could hit the "big time" if Al Bunge, a rugged 6-foot, 8-inch sophomore, came through. So it was no coincidence that big Bunge scored 16 points and won the battle of the backboards with Kentucky's John Cox Monday night to prove a key man in Maryland's triumph.

Kansas Downs Marquette

Kansas, the nation's No. 2 team behind North Carolina, defeated Marquette, 82-62, fourth-ranked Bradley crushed Arizona, 91-52, and seventh-ranked Kansas State downed Purdue, 79-73, but Cincinnati upset eighth-ranked Temple, 80-57, in other games involving top-rated teams.

Wilt Chamberlain, Kansas' seven-foot star, poured in 15 field goals and 10 free throws to set a Milwaukee arena scoring mark of 40 points and pace the Jayhawks to their fourth straight triumph.

Barney Cable of Bradley scored 16 points as the Braves breezed to their second straight victory.

Kansas State won its third in a row after the lead changed hands no less than 14 times.

Temple Loses Second Game

Sophomore forward Oscar Robertson connected on 16 of 21 field goal attempts and added four free throws for 36 points as Cincinnati handed Temple its second straight defeat.

Notre Dame, rated 10th, walloped Nebraska, 69-56.

In other games, Texas A&M upset highly regarded Memphis State, 71-68; Northwestern downed South Dakota State, 74-58; St. Francis (Pa.) beat Duquesne, 65-64, and Wisconsin whipped Washington of St. Louis, 43-33.

North Carolina's meeting with George Washington tops a rather light Tuesday night schedule, which also includes Yale vs. Fordham and North Carolina State vs. Clemson.

Yank Fighters Favored Tonight

LONDON (UP)— A pair of ringwise American heavyweight—Bob Baker of Pittsburgh and Howie Turner of Brooklyn—are 7-5 favorites to whip British opponents tonight in co-featured 10-round bouts at Harringay Arena.

Baker, who has been fighting professionally since 1949, tangles with young Dick Richardson of Wales while Turner, a pro for six years, meets Brian London of Blackpool, England.

Little Rock Plans Reception for Negro Gridders

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UP)—Negro halfback Jim Pace of the University of Michigan said today he has learned that his hometown of Little Rock, Ark., is planning a civic reception, parade and banquet for himself, teammate Willie Smith and University of Wisconsin quarterback Sid Williams when they return home for the Christmas holidays.

Pace said he understood that a committee including Gov. Orval Faubus and Little Rock Mayor W. W. Mann was arranging the celebration. Smith and Williams also are Negroes.

Pace, the speedy halfback who was named to the second team backfield in the United Press All-American poll, said he was "overwhelmed."

He said there was some mention of the banquet being held in a previously all-white hotel and that the football teams from Central High School, scene of the violent September segregation fights, and his own high school, Horace Mann, would be invited to the banquet.

The Wolverine senior said the reception was scheduled for Dec. 29 when he returns from playing in the annual East-West Shrine Game in San Francisco.

Bucs May Sign Sooner Cager

NORMAN, Okla. (UP) — High-scoring forward Don Schwall of the University of Oklahoma basketball team quit the team Monday to sign a major league baseball contract.

Schwall, a 20-year-old junior from Ypsilnti, Mich., said he had received "substantial" offers from the Pittsburgh Pirates, Philadelphia Phillies, Boston Red Sox, Kansas City Athletics and Detroit Tigers.

A report from an assistant coach at Oklahoma, who asked that his name not be revealed, said Schwall would sign "today or Wednesday" for $50,000 with the Pittsburgh club.

Lewis New Champ

NOTTINGHAM, England (UP)—Percy Lewis won the vacant British Empire featherweight championship Monday night by scoring a technical knockout over Charlie Hill of Scotland in the 10th round of a scheduled 15-round bout. Hill, who weighed 126 pounds to Lewis' 124¾, was knocked down seven times before the fight was stopped.

GENE BEARDEN

Gene Bearden, a handsome southpaw pitcher, won 20 games and lost only seven for the Cleveland Indians in 1948 and No. 20 made American League history. That's the one that licked Boston in the first playoff in the league's history but Gene wasn't through yet. He won a key World Series game against the Braves and, in relief, saved the last game that made the Indians champions of the world. For the next five years, it was all down hill for handsome Gene as he tried, but failed, to make a comeback with Washington, Detroit, St. Louis Browns and finally the White Sox.

Whatever happened to Gene Bearden? Today he is sales manager for the Washington Contact Service at Memphis, Tenn., an organization that specializes in collecting unpaid bills.

Pirates Trade Bob Purkey to Cincinnati for Southpaw Gross

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Right-hander Bob Purkey, who was discovered on the sandlots in his native Pittsburgh by the Pirates, said today he hoped to be the "lucky seventh pitcher" for the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The Redlegs, whose lack of pitching depth cost them the pennant last season, acquired Purkey Monday as their seventh new pitching prospect in seven days. In an even up trade, the Redlegs sent southpaw Don Gross to the Pirates who have been hurting for left-handed hurlers.

Likes Big Jump

"I am real enthusiastic about this trade," beamed Purkey as he returned home from a shopping trip. "Going from a seventh place team to a first division club is a real jump. And I think I can help Cincinnati since their big need is pitching."

The 28-year-old Purkey, tabbed for a major league career by former Pirate Pie Traynor, who saw the youngster perform on sandlots, expressed enthusiasm for Redleg Manager Birdie Tebbetts.

"He's a smart baseball man—one of the best," said Bob. "I feel that I can improve because he knows how to handle pitchers."

Had 11-14 Record

Purkey turned in a 11-14 record last season while Gross showed 7-9 for the Redlegs, principally in relief roles.

Pittsburgh General Manager Joe L. Brown said the trade was made because the Pirates have only two other southpaw pitchers — Bob Smith and Luis Arroyo.

Purkey said he was sorry to leave his home town but thought he could help the Redlegs.

"I'm not being critical, but it's hard to win a game when you don't have run production behind you. The Redleg power hitters should help me have a good year. "Yes, I'm tickled to become a Redleg. Now it's going to be a long winter because I'm anxious to join them."

Pirates Sign Young 'Lefty'

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today announced the signing of 19-year-old Lawrence Lee Elliot of San Diego, Calif., to a contract with their Hollywood team in the Pacific Coast League.

Elliott, a 6-4, 218-pounder, was sought by 14 other major league clubs the Pirates said. He is a lefthander all the way who can play first base, the outfield or pitch.

Elliot, who now attends San Diego Junior College, batted .339 in 50 games for the Edmonton Eskimos, runners-up in the global world series of amateur baseball held in Detroit last summer.

Forbeswith, combines gentle humor, charming characters and pictures in complete harmony with the story's mood.

Other new books for Christmas reading include:

Written in response to urgent request of lecture audiences everywhere is the book by Anne Wertsner, Make Your Own Merry Christmas. This tells how to select a Christmas tree, the making of wreaths, decorating candles, Christmas recipes and Christmas favors.

Well known for his popular books on games and parties, Horace J. Gardner has brought together the most comprehensive and useable of all the Christmas party lore in his book, Let's Celebrate Christmas.

Woman's Club in Annual Christmas Party Monday

The Christmas motif was carried out in gold and white for the decorations of the club room for the Christmas party of the Fayette City Woman's Club held Monday evening.

The president, Mrs. George Troth, presented the acting program chairman for the evening, Mrs. Read Brightwell. Mrs. Brightwell then introduced the musical portion of the program, Mrs. Wellington Baldwin, singing two Christmas selections. The soloist was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Ray Ermlich.

The guest speaker, The Rev. Ted V. Vorhees, chaplain at the Western State Penitentiary, spoke on, Four Views of Santa. Telling how the term of Santa Claus first was derived he went on to tell of the four types of people and their approach to the real meaning of Christmas. He classified these persons by their outlook on life. Especially interesting were some of his experiences with prisoners.

Permelia Baldwin gave the invocation. An announcement for the promotion of activities among older people was made by Mrs. Troth before the invitation to the members to the Smorgasbord.

A tradition that began in the club four years ago, the placing of the Christmas stocking with a money gift to be used for the club's welfare work was continued this year. Mrs. Roy Mossburg was in charge. She was assisted by Mrs. George Rainey, Mrs. Howard Opfar and Mrs. William Opfar.

Decorations were by the Park and Garden committee, Mrs. Joseph Williams, Mrs. Patrick Hynes and Mrs. Stephen Figel. Table decorations were by the hostesses, Mrs. Richard Auther, Mrs. Edwin Hindmarsh, Mrs. Read Brightwell, Mrs. Virginia Hamer, Mrs. John Traversari, Mrs. Frank Rihtarcik, Mrs. Vernon Smith and Mrs. Hynes.

Food Distribution

The distribution of surplus food will be held in Fayette City tomorrow from 12 noon until 2 p. m. at the borough building. Gillespie and Lowbar will distribute also from 2 to 4 p. m.

Youth Fellowship Class Meeting

The first of three special December meetings was held Sunday evening by the Methodist Youth Fellowship of Fayette City. The group of 15 members, their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. James Foor, were guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Harry Beveridge at their home, Connellsville St.

The group enjoyed a Sunday evening supper, devotions, and games preceding a business meeting conducted by the president, Teddy Shook. Plans for the second meeting were completed. On Sunday evening, at 7:00 p. m. there will be a special Christmas service. A movie, "A Savior Is Born," will be shown and refreshments served. The public is invited.

Tentative plans were made to join with the Junior choir in carol singing on Sunday, Dec. 22. The junior choir will take a section of the community while the Fellowship takes another section. Following caroling they will return to the church for a social hour.

Women's Society To Hold Program

In keeping with the theme, "The March of Missions in Evangelism," the Womans Society of Christian Service will present its Christmas program by giving three views of missions, home, home, Korea and India.

The manner in which these people celebrate Christmas will be discussed. Mrs. Richard Auther is program and worship leader.

A brief business session will be conducted by the president, Mrs. Edwin Hindmarsh. A social hour will conclude the evening's activities.

Entertains Club

Mrs. Jack Stockton, California St., Fayette City, was hostess to her card club at her home recently. Two tables of bridge were in play. Mrs. Russell Jones, a guest, also received the prize for high scoring.

Mrs. Read Brightwell is a member of the jury serving in this weeks session of Criminal court, Uniontown.

Navy Plane Explodes in Flight; Nine of Ten Aboard Are Killed

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UP)—A twin-engine Navy P5M airplane exploded in flight here Monday, killing nine of the ten men aboard, including an aviation machinist who was hitch-hiking a ride to Baltimore, Md.

An engine on the right wing of the plane exploded after the take-off from Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, blowing the wing off and sending the plane crazily spinning into a mesquite thicket where another blast tore it apart.

First reports from the Navy said eight men were killed and that another managed to bail out safely. Later, when the bodies were removed from the plane to a funeral home in Corpus Christi, it was found nine men had perished in the crash.

The extra body, identified from dog tags, was that of Aviation machinist Carl P. Renn. Renn boarded the plane in Corpus Christi to fly to Baltimore after flying in on another plane. Neither plane listed his name on their manifests.

The man who escaped with his life was identified as Sam Gariffo, an aviation storekeeper. Gariffo managed somehow to bail out of the plane after the first explosion. He is listed in excellent condition at the Naval base hospital despite deep head burns.

One of the other eight dead men also managed to bail out, but the plane was too low for his parachute to open.

Live ammunition in the plane, from Patrol Squadron, 46, San Diego, Calif., exploded as rescue crews sought to put out the fire and recover the bodies of the men.

The plane was enroute from San Diego to Jacksonville, Fla., and Baltimore, Md. It had stopped overnight at Corpus Christi to refuel.

The Navy Monday released the following identifications of the men killed in the crash.

Lt. Cmdr. James N. Scoffield Jr. the pilot, Coronado, Calif.; Aviation Machinst 2-C John J. Lanna, Chula Vista, Calif.; Aviation Structural Mechanic 3-C Richard R. Kiermaier, San Diego, Calif.; AL 2-C Paul N. Faircloth, Jacksonville Fla.; Aviation Electrician Daniel S. Kwas, Detroit, Mich.; Lt. (j.g.) Howard B. Dickerson, the co-pilot, Arlington, Va., and Renn, address unknown.

Identity of one of the dead men has not yet been released.

1957 Cotton Crop Is Reported Down

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department estimated the 1957 cotton crop today at 11,010,000 bales.

This is down 778,000 bales, or about 6.6 per cent, from the November estimate.

The final report this year compares with 1956 production of 13,310,000 bales and 10-year average production of 13,669,000 bales.

This year's crop, added to a carryover of 11,200,000 bales, will meet domestic and foreign consumption demands for about two years.

Ready for Service

LONDON (UP)— The turbo-prop Bristol Britannia will go into non-stop transatlantic passenger service between London and New York Dec. 19, British Overseas Airways Corp. announced today. The scheduled service had been delayed for months by icing and other minor faults in the big four-engine "whispering giant." The flights are to be once weekly in each direction at the start.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Mary Baker, who passed away six years ago today, December 10, 1951.
Loving memories never die
As years roll on, and days pass by.
Deep in our hearts a memory is kept
Of one we loved and will never forget.
Friends may think we forgot you
When at times we seem to smile,
Little do they know the sorrow,
That the smiles hide all the while.
We think of you in silence
No eyes can see us weep
But many silent tears are shed
While others are asleep.
A smile, a tear, a thought sincere,
How often we wish that you were here.
Sadly missed by daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs Jesse C. Rosborough and Grandchildren

Your Health—

Limiting Fat Keeps You Well

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

You can do a lot to protect your family's health right at the dinner table.

Heart disease, you have been advised time and time again, is the nation's number one killer as far as deases are concerned. Some 40,000 Americans are stricken every year.

We've long recognized the fact that the principal villain in the heart disease picture is cholesterol. This is a fatty alcohol which enters our blood through the foods we eat, primarily fatty foods.

It is part of the fatty compounds which we call beta-lipoproteins. This element gathers on the walls of the arteries and gradually closes them off, making it more and more difficult for the heart to circulate the blood.

We eat an average of 1,095 meals a year, give or take a few. And how often do we eat fatty foods at these meals? See the connection?

Dr Norman Joliffe, famed New York nutritionist, places the responsibility for stamping out a large percentage of heart disease squarely upon the housewife.

Helpful Guide

As a guide for planning more healthy menus, he lists the following rules:

Consume adequate amounts of high value protein foods, such as fresh and canned fish, tuna in oil, sardines, mackerel, meat, poultry and nonfat milk and cottage cheese.

Leave the visible fat of the meat on your plate. Bake, roast, broil or boil your meats, poultry and fish

Restrict use of butter or margarine as table spreads to infrequent occasions. Do the same with fried foods and high fat desserts such as ice cream, cake and pastries.

Restrict fat milk consumption to its use in coffee and on cereals. Restrict visible fat consumption to one ounce a day. Included in this amount should be butter and other table spreads and salad and cooking oils.

Make up calorie deficiencies with bread, potatoes, vegetables and fruits.

Question and Answer

C.B.T.: I have had a severe case of yellow jaundice. I am now having trouble with my eyesight Could this be caused by the jaundice?

Answer: It is unlikely that the jaundice has had anything to do with the difficulty you are having with your eyes.

To Fight Cuts

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. John D. Dingell (D-Mich.) says he will fight any attempt to cut government "humanitarian programs" next year to save money for satellite and missile development. Dingell said in a statement it would be "false economy" to reduce such programs as old age assistance, school lunches, disabled veterans benefits and other "humanitarian" projects.

From Hollywood—

Esther Williams Is Woodpeckers' Victim

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Esther Williams hollered for help today her house is being splintered by woodpeckers and she can't do anything to stop them.

The swim star, clad in skin-tight bullfighter pants, climbed atop the roof of her ranch-style canyon home to survey the wreckage. Shingles were scattered helter skelter, holes the size of silver dollars were punched through to the attic, and acorns were wedged into every cranny.

Esther Williams

"It began when a man, who had been oiling roofs in the neighborhood, offered to fix our roof for half price," Esther explained unhappily.

Peppermint Flavored Oil

"So he spread some evil smelling stuff all over the place, collected his money and disappeared. That oil must have been peppermint flavored.

"A few weeks later I woke up to hear horrible pounding noises. It sounded like a mob of process servers trying to break down the doors. Looked all over the house before I spotted two dozen woodpeckers drilling away on the roof.

"Since then it's been open warfare."

Esther called her insurance company, but got the horse laugh.

"They said woodpecker damage was an act of God and I couldn't collect on my policy. Each hole came under my $50 deductable clause—which meant I'd have to pay that much for each of 500 holes.

Bought Gun, Couldn't Shoot

The actress climbed down from the roof and into the attic where shafts of light from the holes made a pleasant polka dot pattern.

"I bought a pellet gun, but I couldn't bear the thought of shooting the darned birds. I considered a scarecrow, but the neighbors think I'd lost my mind.

"I read a book on woodpeckers. I learned they store more acorns than they can eat. After a while the acorns attract mice, jays and chipmunks. That's all I need."

A leaky roof and constant drumming noises aren't the only problems. Esther's closets are being invaded.

"I have lingerie drawers built into the walls, and every once in a while I open one of them to find a brassiere filled with acorns," she said grimly.

"I don't think it's very funny at this stage. If anybody knows a humane way to get rid of woodpeckers I'd certainly appreciate hearing from them."

What Doctor Ordered

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Detective George Weidl always gets his man. Weidl, hospitalized for a checkup, spotted a visitor pass his room Monday. He leaped out of bed and arrested William E Swindell Jr., 28, of Etna, Pa. a suspected check forger who Weidl had sought for several months.

TV Review—

Studio One To Move to The Coast

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — "Studio One" will move to the West Coast in January in a bid to juice its ratings by pursuing a star policy.

Monday night, "Studio One," in one of its farewell efforts out of Manhattan, presented the first section of a two-part Arthur Hailey hospital drama, "No Deadly Medicine." It was an adult eastern.

Hailey's drama deals with an ancient theme — the clash between old and new. Specifically, it traces the conflict between an elderly pathologist (played by Lee Cobb) and his new young assistant (William Shatner).

Cobb, one of our more intelligent actors, settled down into a scintillating performance, only slightly marred by an opening scene that saw him crank and crotchet around like Lionel Barrymore playing Dr. Gillespie. Particularly fine, I thought, was the acting of Betty Sinclair who essayed the role of a woman doctor. Shatner's performance was properly cold, but impaired a bit by some of those annoying mannerisms that so many young actors seem to affect nowadays.

There were, it might be mentioned, several irritating flubs during the hour: Cobb said: "Lucy Grainger is having a baby" when he meant to say "Elizabeth Alexander is having a baby." Shatner referring to a town called "New Richport," said "New Haven," by mistake. And I'm sure that once, someone referred to a character named "Dr. David Coleman" as "Dr. David Graham."

Well, that can be all changed when they move the show to Hollywood. They can just put it on film to be sure.

The channel swim:

Part of the reason for Arthur Godfrey's success certainly must be chalked up to his by-play with the ladies that drop into his shows. Monday night on "Talent Scouts," Godfrey flirted with his first pretty talent scout and twitched his face soulfully when he sniffed his second lady scout's perfume.

"Person To Person" landed Tyrone Power and his Manhattan flat for its Dec. 20 airing on CBS-TV...That new look for the ABC-TV "Frank Sinatra Show" means live programs with Dinah Shore and Sammy Davis in January.

Casualties: Red Skelton won't be able to make his CBS-TV show tonight — he tore a ligament in his ankle. A filmed Skelton show will be run off...Piper Laurie pulled out of the cast of NBC-TV's "Twelfth Night" set for Dec. 15—Rosemary Harris will take over her role of Viola.

Robert Ryan is a fine actor. It's a shame to see him wasted in tripe like Monday night's "Goodyear Theatre" on NBC-TV.

Richard Wall, the research chemist who's bagged $26,500 on NBC-TV's "Twenty One," looks like a young Dennis O'Keefe. Art Baker's "You Asked For It" will visit Liberace's home on Dec. 22 to look at his 400 miniature pianos.

Steve Dunne landed the emcee-role in the NBC-TV nighttime version of "Truth Or Consequences" which uncorks on Dec. 13. Mike Wallace will grill Lennie Ross, the 11-year-old financial quizard who won $164,000, on his ABC-TV show Dec. 21.

ABC-TV's "Maverick" again out-trendexed (22.6) CBS-TV's Ed Sullivan (16.5) and NBC-TV's Steve Allen (20.1) in their competing half hour Sunday.

Modern Appliances Make White Christmas Merry; Everyone Can Enjoy Yuletide

Fun for everyone. That's what a White Christmas will mean in your house this year.

Gleaming new major appliances do more than just perform practical functions around your house to free Mom from her workday chores. They also provide a welcome springboard for joyous pastimes for the whole family.

For one thing, they can lead to new hobbies and interests. Believe it or not, most men like to putter around the kitchen. Why not let him? Now, what with the easy-does-it features on modern ranges, he can cook and bake to his heart's content.

He may start bragging that he's as good a cook as you are, but let him believe it. Actually, he can't help but turn out delicious dishes with the help of the newest temperature guides, timers, thermostats, automatic controls and all the other functional features found on today's kitchen ranges—whether they are built-in or free standing.

They can make a good cook into a master chef in no more time than it takes to have a new range installed.

Fun with Safety

Even the children can have fun in the kitchen and be as safe as if they were in their own playrooms. Electronic ovens, for example, provide cooking safety never before known. The inside of the oven never gets hot, and as soon as the door of the oven is opened, all the power is automatically turned off.

Now the kids can help mommy prepare the Christmas dinner—or any other meal. For while she is stuffing the turkey, the little lady of the house can be baking her own special cake in the electronic oven. Cooking this fast, modern way, that cake will be done by the time the bird is ready for roasting.

The children can also begin to learn the art of cooking at an earlier age, because they don't have to be watched when they are using an electronic oven. And letting them do such "grown up" activities all alone, will make it a lot easier to call on them when mother needs some help around the house.

The youngsters will also delight at seeing their fuzzy toys "take a bath" in your new washing machine. They'll just thrill as the little pink elephants and brown doggies go tumbling across the window as they are being dried.

Laundry equipment takes care of cloth story books, too.

New Dimension

A new dimension can be added to your gift giving this Christmas that will be a lot of fun for the whole family. Everyone can get together one evening about a week before Christmas and "cook up" a few gifts. This is meant literally, because your range and freezer can be used to help prepare a few extra gifts for some friends who may drop in unannounced.

No pushing through large department store crowds for these gifts, either. The only crowded place will be the oven and the top of your range as you bake delicious pies, cakes, candies, and other delicacies. You will have a lot of fun just deciding what flavor pie to bake in case Aunt Minnie drops in for a Yule visit; or whether to put a peach or pineapple filling in the cake.

Of course, the whole family can work together at helping Mom prepare these practical gifts.

Then there's no better place to hide your gifts than the freezer—and not because there's no room left in the closets but because the freezer will keep your gift food items as fresh as the day you baked them.

For Joyous Yule

These frozen gifts can be given the same wrapping treatment with pretty papers and fancy ribbons as the hankies and perfumes. Just make sure that the item is properly freezer-wrapped before you dress it up with the holiday wrapping.

And if Aunt Minnie doesn't come, you will be able to take out the pie a few weeks after Christmas and serve it at the family dinner. Delicious as ever.

Since Christmas comes but once a year, make certain that you insure a joyous one by making it a White Christmas.

FOR RANGE GIFT — One way to tip off your wife that she's getting a new range for Christmas, is to wrap a box of perfume to look like a range. All you need is white gift wrap paper, black gummed reinforcements and signal dots, and black construction paper for door lines. Ideas for other appliances in accompanying story.

Dishwasher Widths

Dishwashers are available in 24, 27 and 30 inch widths and can be used either as a portable or a permanently installed appliance.

Freezer Helps Make Christmas Party More Fun

Too often a Christmas party is fun for everybody except the hostess. With a freezer, however, the hostess can have more fun than anybody. Because, in addition to enjoying the party, she has the knowledge that she's achieved a social success with a minimum of effort.

To eliminate most of the fuss involved in getting ready for the affair, plan the party menu, prepare the delicacies in advance and freeze them. On the day of the big event all that's needed is to remove the party food from the freezer, ready for serving.

All kinds of foods can be frozen — cakes, nut breads, fruits, sandwich spreads, canapes and pies, or even a steak or Cornish game hen. Many kinds of containers, packages and wrapping materials have appeared on the market to keep party delicacies fresh and good tasting. A container that's moisture and vapor proof is a must.

Protects You

The "UL" label attached to your new electrical appliance means that the appliance is as reasonably safe as science and engineering skill can make it. The initials stand for Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., a non-profit laboratory founded more than 60 years ago.

That Dream Kitchen Can Become Reality With Cabinet Sink

A happy marriage of function and beauty has taken place in your steel kitchen sink.

Whether your preference is gleaming white stainless steel or any one of the host of beautiful colors appliance manufacturers have developed, your sink today provides a perfect center for getting your kitchen chores done with a minimum of effort.

Not only does today's sink cabinet house improved wash and spray rinse appurtenances, but it has advanced in other directions as well.

Imagine getting rid of most of your garbage simply with the aid of an automatic waste disposer, installed in your sink. No more having to get dressed just to go outside with the garbage in all kinds of weather; no more accumulation of garbage.

You can install a towel dryer under your sink, too, if you're not lucky enough to own an automatic dishwasher. Many dishwashers incidentally, can be installed under the sink.

Things of Beauty

Sink cabinets in themselves are beautiful things. Some sink tops come with fluorescent lighting on the backsplash Modern drawer and door design highlight many new sinks, with doors insulated to eliminate noise in closing

Sinks come recessed at the bottom so you can do your work up close without fear of stubbing your toe, or marring the finish Many are recessed under the sink top to provide knee room, so you can sit while you work

A wide variety of special drawers is offered under the sink—cutlery drawers, vegetable keeper, soap bar, bread box and many others Shelves slide out and are adjustable up and down

There is no need to postpone the Christmas purchase of an efficient, attractive and sparkling new cabinet sink or drainboard because, "I want to wait until I remodel my whole kitchen"

Because sinks are usually made by the same manufacturer that produces complete kitchens, you can buy the sink now and have no worries about its blending into the kitchen you want to remodel at a later date

Steel sinks are made in a variety of widths; 48, 54 and 60 inches being the most common They are available with drawers and storage space on one or both sides.

Decorator Colors

You can purchase a drainboard-type sink complete with a one-piece steel top in gleaming white or in a variety of decorator colors. Or, if you prefer the fashion appeal and life-time finish of stainless steel, you will find available a variety of sizes of cabinet sinks that may be fitted with stainless steel tops or stainless steel drop in bowls.

In any case, you will find it simple to find the right style and size for your requirements. Whether it is just the beginning of a complete new kitchen or a part of a newly remodeled kitchen, a new steel sink is easy to buy and install It will provide a durable Christmas gift that will be appreciated through the years.

A SIMPLE DIAL — Control on the automatic gas water heater permits easy adjustment of water temperature for personal use for household chores. A twist of the dial provides just the right temperature for a bubble bath or washing the dinner dishes.

Water Heater Is Key

With your new water heater, it will be possible to spend a rainy day at home and do three or four loads of wash, rather than limiting yourself to one wash a day for fear of exhausting the supply of hot water.

And, of course, all this washing is being done while you're in the den watching the afternoon television show or reading the latest best-selling novel.

Some of the family's most beneficial and healthful living resulting from hot water are found in automatic dishwashing. Ideally, dishes being washed by hand should have water of between 130 and 150 degrees But this is too hot to touch. So, hand-washed dishes do not usually get the bacteria killing benefits of hot water.

But in an automatic dishwasher, the temperature of the water can be as high as 160 or 180 degrees It makes no difference, because the hands never touch the water.

When water of that high temperature is used you can be sure that any bacteria or germs that have been on the dishes will be washed off The possibility of a disease-carrier is just about eliminated.

In addition to being clean, dishes washed in an automatic dishwasher look clean. Those embarrassing moments when a guest might receive a spotted dish, are no more.

Your automatic water heater may be out of sight, but as you go through the day, getting all the hot water you need when you want it, it will never be out of mind.

MAN AROUND THE HOUSE: — Even for a man, housework isn't drudgery when there are modern appliances to do the work for him. A pair of laundry servants, like this new washer and dryer, make the job of doing the family wash as easy as pie — for man or woman.

Get Most Out of New Dryer

As with a finely-tuned automobile engine, you can get more "mileage" out of your automatic clothes dryer by following some simple rules of the road.

To get better drying results and to insure that your dryer will perform more efficiently for a longer period, the National LP-Gas Council has the following suggestions to make:

1. Be sure the drum is wiped clean before using the dryer. Dirt or grease that may have gotten onto the drum will be transferred to the clothing.

2. Do not overload the dryer. Complaints about slow operation are usually due to overloading the dryer and not allowing clothes sufficient room to tumble.

3. Sort items for washing and drying at one time. Similar fabrics require the same drying time and temperature. It's easier to to transfer load directly from washer to dryer than to sort wet clothes.

4. Do not overdry. Overdrying causes static electricity in synthetic fabrics and also causes wrinkles to set. Limp linens are also caused by overdrying.

5. Dry starched clothes with other starched clothes. In the case of nylon or dacron curtains, for example, put a couple of dry terry towels in with the curtains. Towels will absorb excess starch and leave crisp finish on curtains.

6. Use top of dryer as folding and smoothing surface. The heat of the dryer aids in smoothing the clothes.

7. Check and clean lint tray frequently. If lint is a problem, remember that most of it was formed before the drying process.

8. Always follow manufacturer's suggested temperature settings if dryer has controls.

Laundry No Problem For Smart St. Nicks

So your wife has just gone out to do some Christmas shopping and she left you with the family wash? That's no problem at all.

Here are a few tips on doing the laundry the way your wife does it.

First, sort the laundry into piles of white, colored and man-made fiber garments (your Dacron slacks, for instance). The manufacturer's label should tell you the construction of the garment.

Set aside the clothing that have dark colors that are apt to fade. Give these a separate wash, for they might fade or spot other garments. Brush the sand, grass and dirt that may have accumulated out of the trouser pockets and cuffs, and apply some detergent directly to all badly soiled or grease stained areas. Close the zippers on all the clothes.

First Things First

Wash the white clothes first, and keep the water hot. White clothes of natural fibers can stand the the hottest water.

For bleaching, follow directions on the package to obtain the proper amount. Add the bleach to the water and allow the machine to agitate for a full minute.

Use a measuring cup and follow the directions on the box or bottle when adding detergent. Remember that too many suds cut down the washing action.

When loading the machine, place about nine pounds of clothes in the machine (if the washer is standard size), or load the machine until the loosely folded clothes come within two inches of the tip of the agitator basket.

Large pieces should be mixed with smaller items, rather than be washed together.

After the white things are washed, the light colored items have their turn. If your machine is equipped with a suds-saving device you can use the same water, or if fresh water is drawn, turn the water temperature down to "warm."

The next load will contain more heavily soiled cottons. Use clean, hot water.

When you do the synthetic fibers, if you have an automatic machine, set the wash temperature at "cold" and the agitation and spin speeds at "slow" or "synthetic fabrics" setting. Separate by colors. Put clothes in washer and let it run its complete cycle.

Follow Directions

Follow directions on starch package as to amount. Pour the starch in the machine and let it mix with the water before putting in the clothes. After the load is removed, wipe the agitator basket with a clean cloth to remove excess starch.

As each load of clothes comes from the automatic washer load it into the dryer. For loads of heavy sheets and pillow cases, set the dryer temperature on "high" with the time at 35 to 45 minutes, depending on the size of the load

Cotton sport shirts and children's play clothes should be dried at "medium" settings, with a time of 15 to 25 minutes. For synthetics, set the dryer temperature on "low" and the time control dial at from five to 10 minutes.

If the load is small, use the minimum amount of time, and if you're in doubt about the time setting, use a shorter, rather than a longer, period of time. Clothes that stay in the dryer too long have a stiff, scratchy feel when first taken out. "Overdrying" destroys the natural moisture present in all fabrics and, besides spoiling the appearance and feel of the fabric, hastens deterioration.

Handle with Care

Synthetic fabrics require special handling. If washed in cold water and dried in the proper amount of time they will require a minimum, if any, ironing. Too much heat, either in the washer or dryer, causes wrinkles to set. Washing in cold water with the proper amount of agitation followed by low dryer heat or warm sunshine, causes wrinkles to pop out and leave clothes looking fresh.

That s it, mister. Really nothing to it, is there? What's that? You say if everything's that simple, you'll offer to take care of the house and let your wife go to work. Good deal.

Gifts Traditional

The custom of giving gifts once a year at a religious festival has been handed down to us through the ages.

The ancient Romans and pagans in central Europe observed this custom and of course the first frankincense, and myrrh.

Exactly when the idea of giving gifts at Christmas became a "traditional" custom is not known.

The feudal way of living in Europe accounted for many magnificent Christmas gifts that were in fact, yearly "tribute" to landowners and royalty

WITH THE DISHES AWAY, YOU CAN PLAY: — Mom and Dad have plenty of time to put the finishing touches on the children's gifts while the dishes are being washed and dried automatically. There is at least an hour of extra time each day when you have one of these automatic servants in your home.

Small Appliances Make Hit

Small appliances make a big hit as a Christmas gift for Mrs. Homemaker — or for the bachelorette and bachelor who lives alone (and likes it!)

Cooking right at the table is a modern innovation and one that makes a meal more fun for all — especially the cook!

Today's toaster, one of the first appliances to appear "on the table," bears little resemblance to old ones. They are now fully automatic, and some toast as many as three slices at once!

Modern Range Key To Yuletide Cookery

A White Christmas featuring a new range provides the homemaker with many opportunities for spotlighting her cooking achievements. Spectaculars like the flaming plum pudding, the magnificent goose, beautiful Christmas breads and cookies and tantalizing hors d'oeuvres will not confine mother to the kitchen. For the first time she is free to enjoy family and friends while the trusty automatic range keeps sentinel in the kitchen.

Christmas dinner, this year, means no staggered schedule for the already overworked oven. The majestic goose or turkey can take its time to roast to golden perfection while rolls, pies or casserole dishes always baked at higher temperatures go into another oven or the "roast-o-grill," or await their turn on the time schedule. By checking the various foods on the Christmas dinner menu you can determine in advance what should cook where. And, by thoughtful planning, the enterprising homemaker can put the workload on her range while she participates in the family fun during this blessed season.

Easy Does It

The holiday dinner menu presented at the right time shows how last-minute cooking frustrations can be kept to a minimum.

Featuring traditional Yuletide foods, which can be cooked to perfection with thermostatically controlled burners, it also takes into account the cooking facilities of the average kitchen as well as a distribution of work that frees the cook the day of the dinner.

King Turkey will probably reign over your Christmas dinner table as it will in millions of homes throughout the country. So that you can be Queen of the dinner here are some tips that you should follow to make this holiday feast one to remember.

In deciding how much turkey you will need, allow ½ to ¾ pounds of "ready to cook" turkey per serving. If you use frozen turkey, buy it about three days before cooking and keep it in the refrigerator to thaw.

To eliminate work on Christmas day, prepare the bird and stuffing the day before roasting. Do not stuff the turkey until the day of baking since the refrigerated bird and stuffing take considerable time to heat through.

The unfrozen, ready-to-cook turkey may be kept in the refrigerator two to three days before cooking. Remove the pin feathers with tweezers or paring knife. Be sure the oil sac above the tail is cut out and all pieces of crop sac under the skin at the breast are removed.

Wash the turkey inside and out, dry well and stuff the neck and body cavity. Sew or skewer the openings and place the stuffed trussed turkey breast side up on a low rack set in a baking pan. Cover the top of the bird with a clean piece of cloth dipped in melted shortening or butter.

Sicily, with 9,927 square miles, is the largest island in the Mediterranean.

ROMANTIC CHRISTMAS SETTING — created with functional silverplate pieces. The oblong butter dish becomes a charming candle holder with the addition of modeling clay on its glass lining to support the candles. The sauce bowl, placed on the tray, contains a needlepoint holder for flowers.

MAGNIFICENT MINK — the gift every woman would like to find under her Christmas tree! This Cerulean Mink stole is extra-specially perfect over those elegant holiday party dresses.

Best Cook Deserves Best Gift; Modern White Christmas Range

Could a woman want a better gift from St. Nick than to hear her husband say, "My wife's the best cook in the world?

Well, appliance manufacturers have developed their ranges to a point where even your undemonstrative hubby might be saying it this Christmas.

What with all the fussing there is around holiday time, many a housewife would be thankful just to know that her Christmas dinner will be done right, and on time. But a woman likes to feel that her holiday meals are something special.

Not only your holiday meals, but meals all-year-around can be special, with a modern automatic range.

You Can't Miss

Even the best of cooks have boil-overs, burnt food and scorched cooking vessels, but now that's all impossible. These housewife's enemies haven't a chance, with new top burner controls, which keep the precise temperature at which you set them, be it 150 degrees for mashed potatoes, or 400 degrees for French fries.

Automatic roast controls eliminate all the guesswork from roasting. Before leaving the house, the housewife decides at what hour the roast should be started and whether she'd like it rare, medium or well done. She sets the controls accordingly, sticks a probe into the meat, and the range takes over. It will stay at a steady temperature until the roast reaches the indicated degree of "doneness" and shut off automatically when the meat is ready for serving.

Rotisseries are included in better ranges, and there may be as many as three spits. Combined with other range features, the rotisserie lures you into preparing such exotic new foods for yourself and family, as shish kebab.

Ovens are getting larger, and even 30-inch ranges may have a 24-inch oven. Some ranges have two ovens, permitting simultaneous baking of items that require different times and temperature. This enables you to do all your Christmas baking at once — pies, and meat, for example. Two broilers in a single range are becoming more common, too, another feature that helps you do your work better and more quickly.

Ovens, of course, respond to pre-set temperatures, lighting up or buzzing or otherwise informing the housewife when her work is done. Fifth burners, convertible to griddles or deep fryers, further advance the range's utility, as do toasting compartments.

Easier to Clean

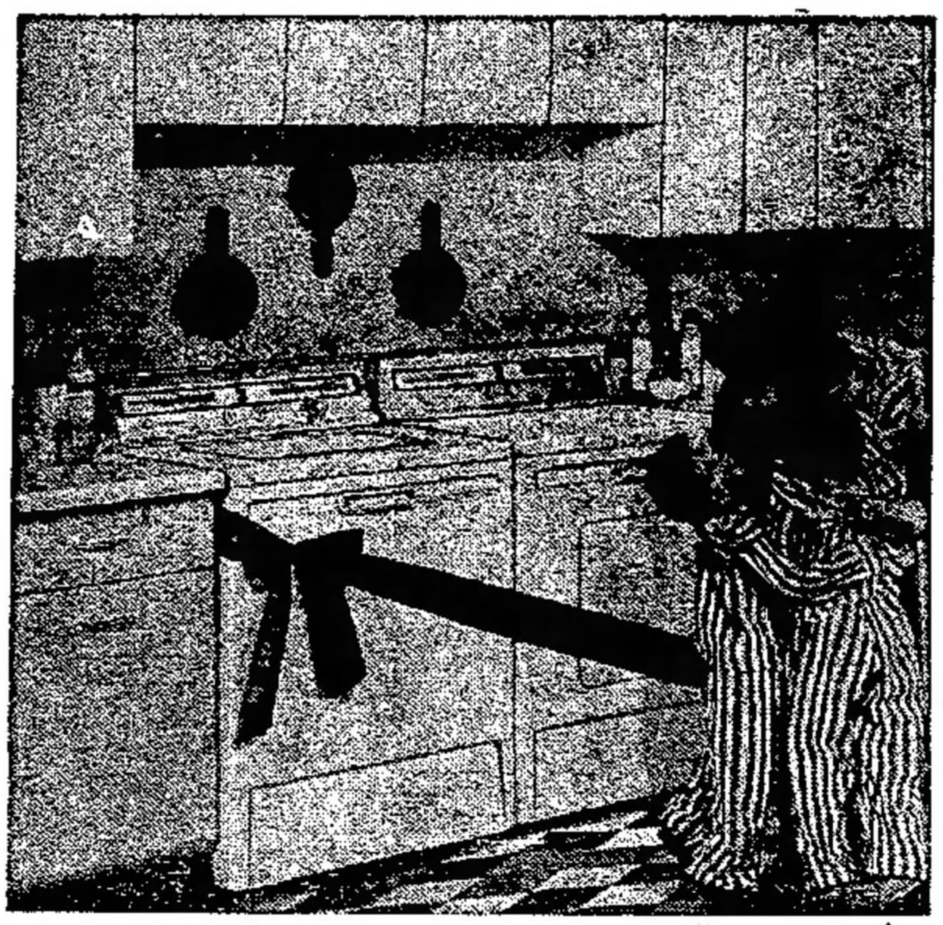
Ease of cleaning is being stressed more and more. Some ranges are built so that their entire top lifts up for cleaning. Some have oven racks that can't be pulled out too far, but far enough for cleaning.

Appliance makers have added some extras for your convenience, such as broiling trays that double as serving trays and disposable aluminum liners for burner bowls.

And, as far as good looks are concerned, ranges are becoming more and more appealing to the eye.

As with the man you married, it might be the good looks that attracted you, but it's the good qualities that make you love him.

You'll love your new range.....



SURPRISE, MOMMY, SURPRISE: — It sure is a surprise when Mommy comes into the kitchen to find her new automatic washer and dryer. And there will be many more surprises when she starts to use her new appliances. There is no garment, whether it's made of the usual natural fibers or the new synthetic materials, that can't be washed and dried in today's automatic washer and dryer.

Soap and Water Best Care for New Appliances

"Nice thing about modern steel appliances," says Penny Edwards, Home Service Director of the Porcelain Enamel Institute, is that you do not have to:

Wax or buff to maintain a lustrous finish.

Scour to remove fruit and vegetable stains.

Worry about cigarette burns or ashes.

Refinish or touch up fading colors.

Worry about turning yellow or becoming discolored with daily use.

Scrub or remove grease and oil.

Disinfect to keep sanitary, pure and odor-free.

Worry about surface cracking, checking or peeling.

"Soap and water will not only do the trick, but will serve as a protective insurance for the high gloss on your new White Christmas appliance for many years to come."

Clothing Economy

Dryer-dried clothes and household linens last longer than those line-dried, with better retention of fabric color and texture, and less loss of tensile strength.

Long Lasting

Tests indicate that home washed linens and clothing last from 33 1-3 per cent to 100 per cent longer than those commercially laundered.

Five Minutes Only...

About five minutes are required to prepare dishes and load a dishwasher, compared with 35 minutes needed to scrape, rinse, dry and put away dishes when the work is done by hand.

Redecorate Steel Kitchen Cabinets With Paint Job

Changing the color of your kitchen cabinets is simpler than changing the color of the kitchen itself.

Alkyd-resin paints, now being manufactured by several paint companies, are available in colors to match, harmonize, or contrast with the colors that are found on most major appliances.

By changing the color of your kitchen cabinets, you can add new brightness and life to your kitchen. And with the paints that are available for the job, it's so simple that a housewife can do it in her spare time.

In preparing your cabinets for a new coat of paint, it is first necessary to roughen the surface if it has a glossy finish. Sandpaper, moistened with turpentine, will do the job. The surface of the cabinets should also be cleaned of dirt and grease with turpentine.

The finishes provided by the alkyd-resin paints will mean grease and stain resistant steel cabinets for years.

Range Spots Cleaned

A rag saturated with household ammonia can be placed over stubborn dried spots on your range and left overnight. The next day the spots should come off easily after scouring and washing.

Here's How to Give Appliance Gifts and Keep It Surprise

It's easy to let Mom know that you've gotten her a new major appliance for Christmas — even though she doesn't find it under the tree on Christmas morning.

Since an appliance is rather bulky, it can't easily be brought into the house and hidden away for the big surprise. But, by appropriately wrapping another little gift, either to resemble the appliance that you have bought, or related to it in some way, she will quickly get the point.

Here are some gift ideas and details on how to wrap them for each appliance:

FREEZER

A gift of freezer wrap, useful in a new freezer, can take on a penguin look. Wrap the box in white crepe paper. A Christmas tree ball, covered with black crepe paper is placed on top for the head, and matching crepe around the three sides of the box becomes the jacket. Yellow gummed paper forms the webbed feet and beak.

DRYER

For a basket surprise, gather bright red cellophane around a tiny basket, like one used in the laundry room, that is filled with hankies for Mom.. Tie with gay green ribbon and a bunch of shiny gold beads. The hankies can be the first things to be tried out in the new dryer.

RANGE

What looks like a gay mandolin is really a tiny frying pan in which Mother can melt butter on her new range. Wrap the pan in bright green gift paper with handle uncovered. Draw white threads from the handle over the center, which is gold notarial seal, and trim with white ribbons.

REFRIGERATOR

A curled fringe of white crepe paper forms the snowy beard, the mustache and the fluffy tip on the red crepe paper cap placed on a small toy refrigerator. Blue notarial seals make the eyes, with nose and mouth of red gummed paper. These trimmings make both a jaunty Santa and a novel preview of a wonderful gift to come.

HOT WATER HEATER

Cologne to keep Mother cool and refreshed throughout the year heralds a new hot water heater. Wrap the cologne in pretty pink crepe paper. Add a construction-paper thermometer and a deeper pink ribbon bow.

WASHING MACHINE

A toy washing machine plus a ping-pong ball make a jolly jack-in-the-box. Wrap all but the top of the machine in red, green and white striped paper. Punch a small hole in the ping-pong ball and tuck in one end of a coiled pipe cleaner and attach to washer. Add stars and red signal dots for eyes and mouth, and a cone shape cap of striped papers.

IRONER

A long-billed cockatoo's Christmas paper plumage is made to conceal a toy iron, symbolizing a brand new ironer that Mom is getting. The fantail is pleated gift wrap; the eyes are black reinforcements; the beak is orange gummed paper.

SINK

Cover a toy sink in red crepe paper and chalk on brick markings. Make Santa's lower half and mittens of colored gummed crepe papers. It looks as though Santa is coming to tell of the new sink that will soon be there.

DISHWASHER

Both the hand lotion and a new dishwasher will help to beautify Mother's pretty hands. Wrap the hand lotion in gleaming blue metallic paper, with a pale pink bow. The hands are cut from pink gummed paper with variety store "jewels" as further trim.

Washers Can Starch And Dye

Your washing machine can do more than just washing It can dye your things and starch them—and perform these functions more simply and efficiently than the traditional way

Practically anything you would ordinarily wash in hot water can be dyed in your clothes washer

Generally, this is the procedure to follow

After laundering the article to be dyed fill the washer with the hottest water available (at least 140 degrees F, even if you have to boil water and add it to the machine)

Add Dye Solution

Prepare the dye to suit the weight of the material in accordance with the directions on the dye package Add the dye solution to the washer, and then put in the article, which should be wet and free of stains before being placed in the dye solution Time of agitation in the washer depends on whether the machine is automatic or not With an automatic, just set the dial for the longest wash period

It is not recommended that woolens or glass or meta fibers be dyed in a washing machine Also the colors black and navy blue are not suited to washer dyeing

Starching in a washing machine is as uncomplicated as dyeing

You can do the complete starching job in the washer, or starch pieces by hand as you usually would, then put them in the washer to spin out the excess starch

To do a complete starching job a concentrated hot-starch solution should be added to the wash This type of powdered or lump starch is economical in a job that requires a great deal of starch Ordinarily a light finish requires at least one-half cup of starch and a medium finish possibly one and-a-half cups

Reset to Rinse

After the pieces to be starched have been washed, you should reset your washer at the 'rinse' setting then add the hot starch solution and the items to be starched

If you starch articles by hand and spin them out in the washer to get rid of the excess starch less starch is used Care should be taken that items undergo the washer spin just enough to remove the excess, no longer Also be certain that the items starched together require the same kind of finish

You ll be pleased with the results.

Washing Machine Helps Cut Your Clothes Budget

Laundering at home has advantages other than the luxury of owning automatic laundry equipment.

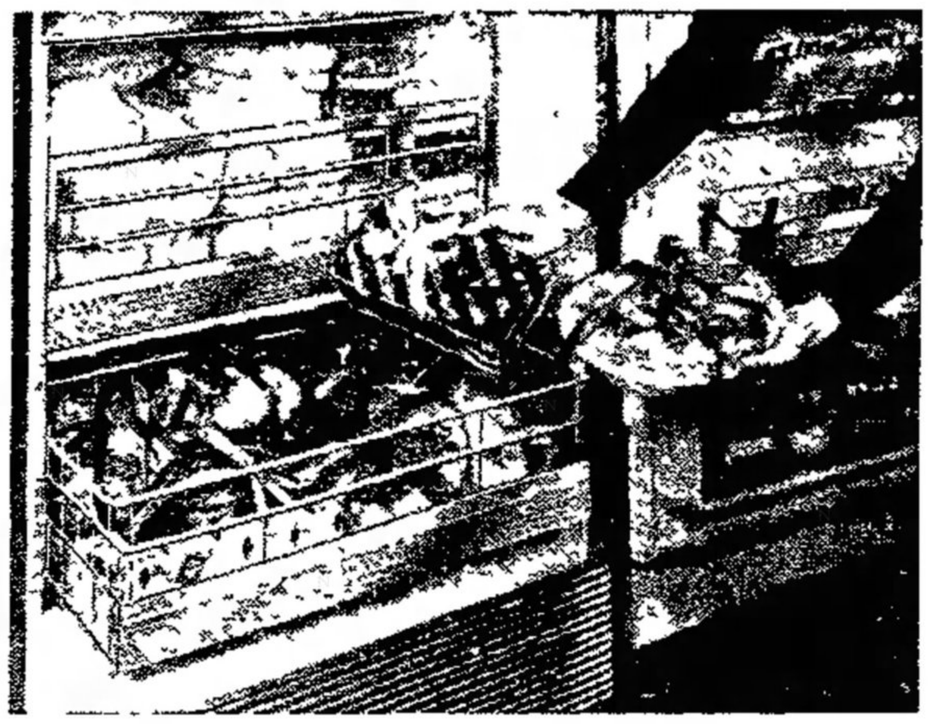
By doing your own laundry for example, only a single stock of clothing and linen is required No longer is it necessary to have double quantities of everything — one in use and one at the laundry Your washables are always on hand for immediate use

Sorting, counting and listing separate articles is unnecessary also when the laundry is not sent out, but done at home

Lost items always turn up because clothes never leave home, and pairs find their way back to each other again, even if laundered in different loads on different days

Installs Near Sink

The logical place to install a dishwasher is next to the sink, since water connections are already there.



YOUR ROLL OUT GIFT TRAY — You're never caught without any gifts for that unexpected visitor when you prepare cakes cookies pies candies, etc ahead of time and store them in your freezer After wrapping them for the freezer, you can add gaily colored gift wrapping They're always handy — and always fresh

Freezer Can Solve Your Gift Problems

How often have you had an unexpected guest drop in during the Christmas holiday for whom you hadn t prepared any gift? Or maybe it was someone you overlooked on your Christmas list

Whatever the reason, it always results in hurrying and scurrying through the gifts you received and can't use or your own dresser drawers to find something — just anything — to give to your guest

You can prepare yourself for such emergencies, and have some fun at the same time Your freezer will do the trick for you When you have some spare time a week or two before Christmas. you can prepare tea rings, homemade rolls, special loaves of nut bread, plum puddings and a wide variety of other special foods Just wrap them for freezing and store in your freezer That's one place that will keep what you baked as fresh as the day you made them

You can gift-wrap each item separately, using a wide variety of freezer papers and containers, and attractive cellophane foil and plastic This sure makes for easy and quick gift giving

If you devote one section to your freezer for these gifts, you can save the wrapping until you re ready to give it away But if you spread the packages throughout the general food area of your freezer, it's best to wrap the packages first so they can be easily identified

FUNCTIONAL BEAUTY OF THE KITCHEN, as important to the discriminating housewife as the style of her clothes, takes on a new fashion note this year with the "squared off look" as illustrated above

'Square Look' New in Appliances

Good looks are keeping up with the tremendous mechanical improvements in modern major appliances.

Probably the most significant style change has been what different manufacturers call the sheer or square look.

Because of this style's uncluttered, clean, square design, free-standing appliances can fit snugly into cabinet arrangements and look like built-ins. Straight sides and right angle corners can be placed cozily against the straight sides of standard or custom-built cabinets without major carpentry.

Recessed hinges permit refrigerator models in this style to be placed agains a side wall without having to allow space for door swing, since the door opens fully within its frame.

Built-ins themselves are rising in popularity, with virtually all appliances available in this fashion.

Stack-on units, appliances made to fit standard countertops, give the built-in look, too, without need of carpentry. The built-in look is also carried out with drop-in units which require either that a hole be cut in the existing counter, or that it be placed in a counter that was pre-cut by the manufacturer

Pre-assembled packaged kitchens, which combine several basic appliances in a single frame-work, are being produced by more and more manufacturers. Smartly styled, these units are between seven and nine feet long, and are ideal for the modern-minded home-maker with limited kitchen space.

Equipment that stands alone and is portable continues to have its appearance improved.

Like free standing or built-in appliances, these are available in various materials and colors.

Whatever your choice, you'll find the new look in kitchens is a good one.

Newest Refrigerator Is the Choicest Gift

New refrigerators make it so easy to be the perfect housewife. And that applies to budget, as well as high priced, models

Today's refrigerators come equipped with such quality-insurance features as separate cooling systems for fresh and frozen food, special locker shelves that maintain proper temperature for chilling beverages and salads, automatic butter keeper, and meat compartments.

Freezing compartments are now larger, and permit easier storage, what with package dispensers and pull-out bins or shelves Many models have their freezing compartments at the bottom, so that every-day foods, in the refrigerator section, are at more accessible heights.

Some refrigerators require only the touch of a toe on a foot pedal to open the door. This leaves both hands free, a blessing that any housewife recognizes. Some models have doors that can be opened by a slight press with the elbow, again allowing both hands to be free. One company has a handle the length of the door, for easy opening. Some open at the touch of finger grips at the base.

Magnetic doors require only a tap to close them. You can select a door to open either right or left, and one producer has a model that opens both ways

Many refrigerators have shelves that either revolve or roll out, eliminating the frustration of having to unload the entire shelf to get to the ketchup in the back Shelves are adjustable up or down.

Several manufacturers are aiming at straight line beauty, emphasizing flat planes with nothing bulging or protruding. This, along with ventilation forced through a front grille, permits installation flush against the wall. The built-in look is yours even with a free-standing model.

Quiet is being emphasized in new models. Compressors, the working mechanism of the refrigerator, are quieter than ever, and doors close securely with barely a sound.

Automatic defrosting is available on most refrigerators. Add to this such items as swing-out crispers and meat keepers, along with other work-saving features, and you'll see why modern refrigerators are bringing cheer to housewives everywhere.

Appliances Had with Installment Buying

Installment buying has made it possible for every family to have the appliances it needs—when it needs them.

There is little reason to wait until all the cash is available before buying the appliances you need, because with a new baby in the house, for example, certain appliances are necessary—and right away. A washer and a dryer, it is known, are invaluable for a new mother who is taking on the additional work of a baby and needs all the extra time and energy she can get.

She can have those appliances now by purchasing on the installment plan. Then she can have the use of the work-saving servants when she needs their help the most.

If you're wondering how installment credit buying affects the saving habit, a special study of consumer installment credit made at President Eisenhower's request for the Federal Reserve Board reports that: "Consumers' desire to save and the importance they attached to the accumulation of savings were not impaired by their extensive use of installment buying."

Even if you have cash on hand, there may still be good reason to buy on installment. For, if you retain your full savings and go into debt to buy an appliance, the pressure of paying the installments will prevent the frittering away of income on unnecessary items.

There is no formula for determining how much of a family's income can be spent on monthly payment plans. However, two years ago a family with two children and $5,000 annual income spent about $48 a month on monthly payment plans. This figures out to be about 12.7 per cent of the take home pay.

But the amount that can be spent each month is an individual family matter, and should be figured out with care. For instance some families in that same income bracket were committed to as much as $75 a month on monthly payments for cars, refrigerators, washing machines, household appliances and home improvements.

Checking revealed that they met their payments promptly and didn't get into trouble—chiefly because some one made the food and clothing dollars do a really fine job.

Economists say that payments on installment debt amounted to 12.7 per cent of disposable income in 1955.

Gift of Dryer Welcome

Getting a dryer to make your Christmas a white one will mean more than just new freedom from drudgery. Weather, for example, may still be a concern for picnics, but won't be a factor when it comes to drying a few loads of wash.

Come rain or shine, the dryer creates perfect weather conditions to allow you to choose your own laundering time — day or night. It not only frees you from weather worries, but dries 15 times faster than the clothesline method. It also saves 20 full working days a year.

What a relief to be absolutely independent of the whims of Mother Nature, who may or may not cooperate with sunshine on the day you want to dry the wash.

With an automatic dryer, any day, or even night, is a good drying time. Just pop the wash into the dryer, set the simple controls and your clothes and linens bask in clean, warm breezes until they are dried to perfection.

Thoughtful homemakers, who realize there is an element of risk involved in outdoor drying, consider cleanliness as one of a dryer's most appealing features. Outdoors, clothes are buffeted by airborne germs, soot and dust. They're whipped and frayed by the wind, baked by glaring sun until they're stiff or else splattered by sudden squalls of rain or snow.

Also, the wash hanging outdoors is at the mercy of curious

1. Begin by ironing the sleeves from the top of the cuff.

2. Each of the cuffs should then be ironed.

3. The back is next, the ironer handling its full width.

4. After the collar, the shirt is ironed across the front.

Call Ironer the Great Emancipator

The originator of the proverb, "hard work never hurt anybody," could not have been the one who did the family ironing by hand.

Anyone who had this chore to perform knows what a "back-breaker" it literally is, and there are scientific studies to support this belief.

No wonder the arrival of automatic ironers was hailed by housewives everywhere as a "great emancipator."

Consider the time saving. Where ironing by hand requires hours dogs and romping children, and occasionally a light-fingered passerby who may take possession of choice items of wearing apparel.

While you were previously tied down to the house for a whole day when there was a load of wash and dry to be done, you now have another day to yourself —when there is a dryer in the laundryroom.

It takes only about two minutes to dry a load of clothing—one minute to put the load into the dryer, and one minute to take it out.

to do, you can do shirts with an automatic ironer at the rate of one in four minutes.

And while the woman who does the ironing for a family of four by hand does four tons of lifting a week — just in picking up the iron — doing the job with an automatic ironer is effortless. You sit while the appliance does the work.

No more tired arms, aching back, or abdominal and leg strain. Your clothes are neat, fresh, machine-perfect; your sheets have a wonderful silky finish.

You'll be proud of your work. You'll feel refreshed at the end of your ironing — no more look or feel of drudgery.

The hours you formerly spent at the ironing board you now will be able to enjoy doing so many of the things you wanted to do "if only I didn't have this ironing."

Automatic ironers come in several styles. Cabinet type units, which have white enamel finish, have lap panels to support dampened articles before they go through the roll, and one or two extension shelves for stacking folded items after finishing. Some have height casters that can be adjusted to the height of the user.

A console designed ironer comes in steel or wood finishes. There are portable models, which can be rolled into storage spots when not in use, and table top models.

Whatever the type, the automatic ironer spells freedom.

Try cotton tipped swabs for cleaning those tiny nooks and corners of your appliances.

The New Water Heaters Better

The National Electrical Manufacturers Association reports a tested new development—40-gallon Electric Water Heaters which out-perform models twice their size.

The quick-recovery Electric Water Heater works like two water heaters, one on top of the other in a single tank. It has two heating elements of 4,500 watts each, interlocked so only one is on at a time.

A counter-top model can be installed in the kitchen, or a tank type model may be placed in any convenient corner or closet. This
